Both sides preparing

Foreign policy debate slated for Wednesday

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Carter and President Ford are going into virtual seclusion in San Francisco as they prepare to argue foreign affairs in the second round of an election year debate triple header.

Both candidates planned to keep low profiles today as they prepared for Wednesday night's debate, but Carter took a few parting swings at Ford for his handling of the Earl Butz affair.

Butz resigned as Ford's agriculture secretary Monday under heavy fire from both Republicans and Democrats who expressed outrage after Butz was quoted as describing in obscene and derogatory terms what he said were the sexual, sartorial and bathroom preferences of blacks.

But Butz, who has been campaigning for Ford along with other members of the Cabinet, said he does not plan to vanish from the campaign trail. In his resignation, he said he plans to "continue to work tirelessly" for Ford.

Officials of the Ford election campaign say they aren't sure how Butz will fit into the campaign in its final weeks, but one Ford campaign source said, "I think you may hear a good deal from him."

Ford had reprimanded Butz on Friday, but he resisted intense pressure, including some from within his own party, to fire Butz.

Finally, looking grim as he appeared before reporters, Ford accepted Butz' resignation, calling it "one of the saddest decisions of my presidency."

Carter was on his way to San Francisco when word reached him that Butz had quit, and he said, "The way this whole embarrassing and disgusting episode was handled by President Ford shows a continuation of lack of leadership."

The Democratic nominee added: "Instead of making his decision based on what was right and best for the country, he very carefully waited until he assessed public opinion polls to see what was right politically, and when the political pressure got so great on him from his own people, then he finally accepted Earl Butz's resignation. I think he should have done so immediately."

Ford had no comment other than his statement accepting the resignation, and he walked away after reading it without responding to questions.

Meanwhile, the League of Women Voters announced plans to hold the debate between the vice presidential nominees, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, in Houston on Oct. 15.

Both Ford and Carter planned to stay in San Francisco until the 9:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday debate at the city's historic Palace of Fine Arts. Neither retirement of Charles Foster last December. Scott presented the officer with his new badge while City Manager George Shapter waited to offer his congratulations.

Brown promoted to captain

By GEORGE MALEK

Police Specialist Dennis Brown took a few minutes out of his shift with the Washington C.H. Police Department Tuesday morning to receive a new badge.

A gold badge and other gold uniform appointment signify the rank of captain and will replace the silver decorations on Brown's uniform.

The veteran officer, who will celebrate his 11th anniversary with the department Wednesday, outdistanced three fellow policemen on the captain's promotional examination was promoted in the office of City Manager George H. Shapter.

Shapter, Police Chief Rodman Scott and Brown met for the formal change of rank. The ceremonies lasted only about 10 minutes and Brown returned to duty after less than a half hour "off."

The captain's examination was held Sept. 23, but test scores were not disclosed until late Monday afternoon. Promotional appointments are based solely on the scores of a written examination.

The 36-year-old Brown correctly answered 160 of the 170 test questions for a 94 per cent score. Chief Scott said that probably no more than three per cent of all police captains in Ohio would have scored higher on the test.

Scott, who did not know himself until

Monday who was to be appointed, said he had not been concerned. Four "good men" took the test and he would not have been unhappy with any one of them, the chief stated. Taking the test in addition to Brown were Larry Walker, Larry Hott and William Robinson, all police specialists.

Raised in the Youngstown area, Brown is a veteran of the Korean War

where he served with the U.S. Air Force. After his discharge, he became a civilian employee at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton and was receiving training through the Dayton Police Department when he applied for the position of patrolman in Washington C.H.

He was appointed to the department Oct. 6, 1965. Brown became certified as the department's firearms instructor in 1966 and has won several awards for marksmanship.

He took additional training in drug detection and criminology in 1971 and was appointed to the rank of police specialist in 1973.

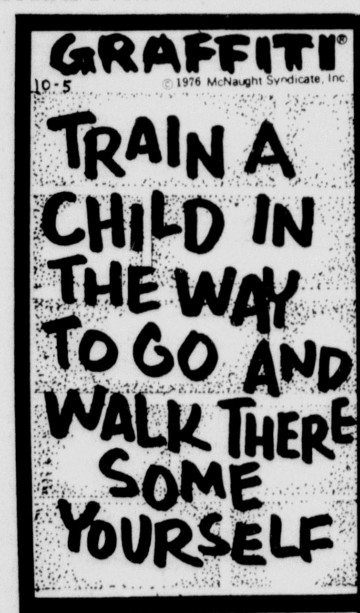

The newly-appointed captain is certified as an instructor in the Ohio criminal code and is a licensed senior operator of the breathalyzer. He is in charge of the breathalyzer operation in the department and is an instructor for the Washington Senior High School ROTC program.

A bachelor, Brown resides at 1018 S. North Street.

THE DEPARTMENT still has one vacancy in the sergeants ranks. A sergeant's promotion examination is scheduled later this month.

Taft raps foe on defense stand

By GEOFF MAVIS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr. arrived in Washington C.H. by helicopter Monday as part of a day-long campaign through southern Ohio.

Greeted by young Taft supporters clad in red tee-shirts, the senator who is battling Democratic challenge Howard Metzenbaum in the November election, disembarked at 5 p.m. from a helicopter which had landed near the K-Mart department store parking lot, in a field owned by Kenneth Bumgarner.

Speaking to a crowd of local residents which included Fayette County commissioners J. Herbert Perrill and Ray Warner and the Miami Trace High School pep band, the 59-year-old Taft challenged his opponent to come forth with more specific defense budget proposals.

Taft had been welcomed to Fayette County by Frank Sollars, finance chairman for the Taft campaign in Fayette County.

Taft observed that his opponent said in June he would cut $15 billion from the defense budget, then raised that figure to $16.2 billion in September, and boosted it to $19.3 billion last week.

"One thing he claims he could do is save $10 billion by competitively bid-

City school issue topic for meeting

By GEORGE MALEK

The Washington C.H. Board of Education has scheduled a public meeting Wednesday night to explain its need for the 2.5-mill operating levy which will appear on the November general election ballot.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria.

Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor and members of the board of education will discuss the reasons behind the request for additional operating levy and will respond to questions about the levy, the 1977 budget and other financial matters.

Board members hope that those who attend will be interested in organizing a committee to promote passage of the school levy.

Nestor feels there are several points worthy of consideration regarding the school system's financial status.

He notes that no school operating millage has been levied since 1969 despite a boom in inflation during the past eight years.

The superintendent also points out that there will be no increase in overall millage even if the levy is approved. The school system currently had a 4.2-mill bond levy in effect, and this will be reduced to 2.2 mills in January. Three other tax levies totalling one-half mill will expire at the end of 1976 and are not being renewed. They are the Fayette Progressive School (.25-mill), the tuberculosis (.15-mill) and the health department (.1-mill).

Although state funding of schools has increased in past years, it has not been sufficient to meet rising costs, Nestor said, and the recent passage of House Bill No. 920 reduced the amount of anticipated revenue from the reappraisal by $140,000.

The largest single item in the school system's budget is teachers' salaries (some 60 per cent of the entire budget), and salaries in the district have fallen to the point where they are a mere $100 above the state minimum. Inadequate salaries make it difficult to attract and retain the quality teachers necessary for a sound educational program.

Washington C.H. schools spend less money per pupil than most similar school districts. As a result, the educational quality suffers, school officials say.

These items as well as many others are to be discussed at Wednesday's meeting, Nestor said.

department back to the same manpower it enjoyed a year ago at this time.

Captain Charles Foster and Sgt. Virgil Harris announced their retirement in December, and the department has operated short-handed ever since.

Scott said his department was undermanned even before the two veteran officers retired, and he hopes that three or four patrolmen can be appointed soon.

A patrolman's test was held last month, and those who passed have completed their interviews before the Washington C.H. Civil Service Commission.

Background data is still being compiled on the candidates, and an eligibility list is expected in the near future.

The city manager said he expects at least two patrolmen to be appointed as soon as the list is complete.

Mild temperatures covered Ohio today but a change is on the way.

Clouds were to be on the increase today with the approach of a cold front which extends from the upper Great Lakes into the mid-Mississippi Valley and will move to extreme western Ohio Wednesday morning.

With the increasing cloudiness, showers or thundershowers were to invade western Ohio today, covering the rest of the state tonight.

Cooler air will move into Ohio Wednesday as the showers diminish.

Highs this afternoon will be mainly in the 70s, cooling off to the 60s Wednesday.

Readings tonight will range from the 40s northwest to the 50s over the rest of the state.

Butz to continue stumping for Ford

by a racial slur he made against blacks, says he still wants to campaign in the farm belt for President Ford.

City school board action

A PETITION requesting that a residence owned by St. Andrew's Episcopal Church be transferred to the Washington C.H. School District was received by board members during Monday's meeting.

The Rev. Dr. Leroy Davis, who resides in the church-owned home on Ohio 41-S, requested the transfer with the approval of the church vestry.

The church property and four other lots lie in an island of non-city property which is almost totally surrounded by the corporation limits. However, since it is not immediately adjacent to the City of Washington C.H. it cannot be annexed.

The church pastor is seeking transfer to the city school district because he feels that the church is basically city oriented. Besides being surrounded by city, most of the membership resides within the city. For the past three years he and his wife, Marsha, who attended the meeting, have paid more than $1,000 annually in tuition to have their children attend city schools.

They pointed out that if their children attended Miami Trace schools, they would have to travel about twice as far each day.

The board agreed to seek a transfer of the parcel to the city school district for school purposes only. It was noted that since the property is owned by the church it pays very little in taxes and thus costs the Miami Trace district very little revenue.

IN OTHER action, the board: —Agreed to cooperate with Ohio State University in a psychological testing survey of fourth through sixth graders. Parental permission will be sought by the school before children are asked to participate. Nestor said the tests consist of picture and word association games.

—Accepted an offer from Frisch's

Restaurant to provide $1.90 gift certificates to presented to students who earn special recognition.

—Rejected all bids received for health insurance because all were higher than the present coverage provided by Blue Cross.

—Set Nov. 15 as the date to receive bids on insurance of school-owned buildings. The board will approve a new insurance contract at its Nov. 22 meeting.

—Agreed to cooperate with Miami Trace High School in sharing the services of a learning disabilities supervisor who will be paid through a state grant.

—Noted that 775 students are enrolled at Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus this fall, an increase over 1975.

—Authorized Maurice Pfeifer, high school principal, to assist in the evaluation of Circleville High School's academic program Feb. 1 and 2.

—Permitted the rental of a classroom by the World Book Co. for three nights later this month for a training conference.

—Allowed use of the Middle School lunchroom the morning of Oct. 22 by the City Teachers Association for a joint meeting with county teachers regarding teachers' legal rights and responsibilities.

—Granted the Washington Lions Club permission to use the Middle School auditorium for rehearsals and performance of the annual variety show March 7 and 8.

—Allowed use of the Middle School gymnasium for a Jaycees-sponsored BB gun safety and shooting class on Saturdays Oct. 16-Dec. 11.

—Approved meeting expenses for several faculty members, and

—Hired a tutor on a part-time basis, and approved the employment of several instructors for fall classes by the Community Education program.

Carter's farm policy

Carter for 21 years, is a cotton farmer and ginmer from Winder, Ga.

Smith opened the engagement by making a brief speech to a gathering of farmers and agribusinessmen, and local Democratic Party members.

Fayette County Commissioner Robert Mace and M. David Urmonst, chairman of the Ohio Carter Committee for Food and Agriculture, were present, as well as Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford and Morrison Gilbert, the Democratic Party nominees for two Fayette County Commissioner seats.

Having traveled to farm centers in 30 states, Smith said he has found that no matter how different the American farmers' agriculture operations are from one another, all share basic problems and goals.

Smith said that a figure of $22 billion in receipts from farmers' annual export market sales was sizeable, but not due to the Republican administration's claim that a "free market" was the reason.

Carter's food and agriculture secretary said that disastrous weather patterns throughout the world and the devaluation of the U.S. dollar had combined to create a demand for the American farmer's products.

Smith added that target prices, established by the current administration, guaranteeing minimum prices for farm commodities, have no validity now due to inflation and rising production costs.

He said that under a Carter administration, one farm policy requirement would be to have "realistic target prices" which would cover minimum production costs. According to Smith, Carter does not believe in high support prices, but feels that target prices now do not even cover production costs in most cases.

Stressing the fact that the Democratic presidential nominee is a farm businessman, who completely operated the Carter family peanut farm in Georgia from 1953 to 1970, Smith said he would obtain Carter's view on a particular farm question asked by a member of the audience, and send a reply to that person.

In the course of his replies to a number of questions, Smith received a vocal "amen" from the audience when he stated that the present crop forecasts reported periodically by the U.S. Department of Agriculture were "not right" and should more accurately predict the resulting harvest figures.

Stating that, "Mr. Butz has been in enough trouble lately without me jumping on him," Smith nonetheless referred to former administration agricultural policy which he said has tended to pit consumer against farm producer and not inform both segments. Smith said that the American consumer spends 16 per cent of his disposable income on groceries, the lowest percentage of any nation in the world.

In closing, Smith told the audience that three traits characteristic of Jimmy Carter are that he is "a farmer, a small businessman, and a Christian."

Debate set

candidate had plans for any public appearances.

Carter scheduled meetings with foreign policy advisers as well as a rehearsal session in which aides were to test him with questions that may come up during the nationally broadcast debate.

Ford spokesman Ron Nessen said the Republican candidate planned to spend some time studying legislation passed late last week by Congress in addition to studying for the debate.

In addition to rapping Ford's handling of Butz, Carter accused Ford of putting together a patchwork proposal on halting the spread of nuclear arms. The proposal, he said, was based on Carter speeches.

Butz, who had tears in his eyes when he announced his resignation Monday at the White House, said he is determined to "continue to work tirelessly" for Ford's election.

White House spokesman Ron Nessen had no comment when asked if Ford intended to accept Butz' offer to campaign. But James A. Baker III, the Ford campaign manager, said he would discuss the idea with Butz.

"Let's face it," Baker said, "a lot of agriculture people out there support him."

A source close to Butz said Butz may be used by the Ford Campaign Committee's Farm Division. "I think you may hear a good deal from him. There will be a lot of platforms that he can take either through the committee or as a private citizen," the source said.

A number of farm spokesmen expressed regret over Butz' departure and said he was not a racist.

Butz had referred to blacks as "coloreds" and used some obscene and derogatory language to describe what he said were the only three things they wanted in life.

His comments, made in a conversation with John Dean and singers Pat Boone and Sonny Bono aboard an airplane in August, were published in Rolling Stone and New Times magazines.

Butz apologized publicly for the remarks and, according to the White House, was severely reprimanded by Ford on Friday. The White House said Ford had not demanded Butz' resignation, and Nessen refused to say what Ford might have done if Butz had tried to remain on.

Ford, in accepting the resignation, told reporters Monday that it "has been one of the saddest decisions of my presidency." Describing Butz as a "close personal friend," Ford said he felt the secretary was "wise enough and courageous enough to recognize that no single individual, no matter how distinguished his past public service, should cast a shadow over the integrity and good will of American government by his comments. For that reason I have accepted the resignation of this decent and good man."

Taft raps

ding defense contracts, Taft said. He's wrong in that and he knows it. And when I pointed that out the other day, he backed down. Now he admits a $10 billion savings isn't possible. Now he says it might only be $6.5 billion."

Taft had spoken in similar terms during a Columbus news conference early Monday morning, before departing by helicopter to Athens, Jackson, Portsmouth, Chillicothe and other cities besides Washington C.H. Taft, who is about to complete his first term as a U.S. senator, after having served as a U.S. representative and in the Ohio House of Representatives, fielded questions after his 15-minute speech.

Speaking in reference to agricultural matters, Taft said that although he disapproved of recent controversial statements made by former agriculture secretary Earl Butz, administration farm policies had enabled America to be the leading grain exporter in the world.

In the course of further questions, Taft again emphasized defense spending proposals, and voiced his opinion that the U.S. should maintain a strong array of armaments.

If his opponent did his homework, Taft said, he would find that the Soviet Union is engaged in a build-up of offensive weapons.

"In strategic forces, the Soviet Union has recently deployed four new ICBMs, and has at least four more in development. We deployed our last new type in 1962, and have only one in development," he pointed out.

"Our Ohio Class Trident submarine will not enter service until the 1980s. The Soviet equivalent, the Delta, which can sit at its dock at Petropavlovsk and destroy every city in Ohio, is in service with the Soviet fleet."

At approximately 5:20 p.m., Taft concluded his visit by thanking local members of the Republican Party, including Taft campaign chairman Charline Cunningham, for their support, and returned with his press aid to the waiting helicopter.

If you plan to spend more than five years
in your new building

YOU
THIS:

The initial cost of a new building is only one aspect of the total cost of ownership.

You also have to consider such things as utilities, maintenance and repairs. These may not seem important in a new building but they can really mount up when a building puts on a few years.

A high quality, professionally built building may cost you more initially but it will quite likely cost you less after just a few years of operation.

If you're thinking about building, give us a call. We'll show you some specific ways you can save money. And keep saving it for a long time to come.

Only the saplings grow

It is pleasant to learn that something is flourishing as a result of the joint U.S.-Soviet orbital space mission last year, even if it is only saplings from seed aboard the Apollo and Soyuz spacecraft. How much more satisfying it would be, though, to read a news story about plans for further collaboration.

Each of the manned capsules involved in the linkup a year ago carried seeds — spruce, fir, cedar, larch — to test how they were affected by conditions in space. Seedlings later were sprouted in New York and Moscow botanical gardens. Now they are to be planted: some in one of the cosmonauts' Siberian birthplace, some at the Baikonur Cosmodrome, some along Cosmonaut's Alley in Moscow.

This is all very nice. The aggravating thing is that, at the present rate of progress, the saplings will be grown to trees before the Soviet government agrees to any further steps toward working together in space.

Officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are said to have made overtures from time to time since the Apollo-Soyuz mission. The American astronauts, if memory serves, sent a telegram to their opposite numbers in Russia on the first anniversary and got no reply. The Soviets have been chary of providing information about their own missions since then.

Apparently, to sum up, there is nothing in the works looking to other U.S.-Soviet cooperation. That is a disappointment, because it seems evident that as mankind reaches farther out into the universe there will be more and more compelling reasons — economic reasons, as well as others — for pooling national resources in a common undertaking. Additional U.S.-Soviet cooperation should be nurtured as those saplings germinated in space will be.

THESE DAYS By John Chamberlain

Carter: 'Betrayer of the South'?

There are some 45 million "evangelical" Protestants in the U.S. Jimmy Carter's own denomination, the Southern Baptists, number 13 million. Seemingly, this would constitute a formidable voting bloc for a born-again Christian whose speaking technique owes much to a study of evangelical sermons. But what I encountered on a visit to Louisiana and Alabama a week ago makes me doubt that this will be what George Gallup, the pollster, has called "the Year of the Evangelical." The truth is that the now famous, or notorious, Playboy interview left an uneasy feeling among certain of the evangelicals. A Southern editor (I'll leave his name out of it, for journalists like to control their own pronouncements) put it this way. You must, he said, realize something about Baptists. They don't favor adultery. But if it must be practiced, they feel it should be after dark, and preferably in the choir loft. And certain words should not be used in talking about it. The editor obviously considered the Baptist feeling he was describing less a matter of hypocrisy than of civilized taste.

In giving the interview to Playboy, Carter may have thought he was being honest in an earthy way the common man, including evangelicals, would understand. But Southern evangelicals do not consider Playboy a fitting medium for a Presidential candidate, even though it does run serious articles, and when Carter condescended to the colloquialisms considered appropriate to girly magazines they raised many an eyebrow. Repeating the editor's remarks about sin in the choir loft to every Baptist I could corner in Louisiana and Alabama, I discovered that Carter's description of his wrestling with his own lustful thoughts had offended many people who think godly men should refrain from ungodly language.

The feeling is still strong in the South that people should live by gentlemanly code. It is this aspect of the South that caused Jeffrey St. John, a New York journalist and radio man, to desert a promising career as a CBS Radio-TV "Spectrum" commentator to move to southern Virginia. Mr. St. John has had a "thing" about the anti-centralist political philosophy of the great Virginian founders of the Republic, and he detests the "social engineering" attitude that Jimmy Carter has espoused in linking up with the Mondale type of Northern Democrat that turns all things over to Washington. In a searing book called "Jimmy Carter's Betrayal of the South," just off the press in paperback, Mr. St. John has paid a passionate tribute to the Southern code which puts "a premium on morals, meaning the respect a Southerner paid to himself, and to manners, the respect paid to others." He finds that Jimmy Carter has offended both in morals and manners, mainly by his failure to "level" with his own Southern constituents about where he actually stands on issues affecting the Southern view of life.

The case against Carter is that he seems willing to embrace any power bloc that stands ready to give him a few more votes. Since he already had the pious in his corner, he went out of his way to appeal to the Playboy sinners. This has been his pattern. According to Mr. St. John, he ran a "red neck" campaign to become governor of Georgia. He won by getting the Lester Maddox vote.

Then he proceeded to go "Northern liberal." The Carter who supported the right-to-work law in Georgia has since given his word to Big Labor's George Meany that he would sign a national bill repealing the right of individual states to ban compulsory unionism. Anyone can change his mind, but Mr. St. John finds it an offense in both morals and manners when a man won't admit openly that he has done so. He finds Carter's equivocal remarks on right-to-work typical of the man.

Somewhere in his career, says Mr. St. John, Jimmy Carter became a "Northern liberal" using a Southern accent. He embraced the Labor Coalition dominated by Leonard Woodcock of the United Automobile Workers to clear his way to the Democratic nomination. He picked Fritz Mondale, a disciple of the big-spending Hubert Humphrey, for his vice presidential running mate in spite of the warning of Governor Edwin Edwards of Louisiana that this would be an "insult to the South." He talks a good anti-bureaucratic line, but in "reforming" the government he left the state of Georgia with a bigger bureaucracy than it had had before he became governor. He would presumably repeat the Georgia pattern in Washington.

Mr. St. John's ultimate damnation is that Carter is "leading a coalition of power brokers in a New Reconstruction effort founded on a theory of social democracy not in the history, culture and tradition of the South." What we will get from a President Carter, says St. John, is "bread and bureaucracy" instead of the right to "live fully, spiritually and with purpose as individuals."

"OVER AT MY HOUSE DADDY'S TRYING TO BREAK A HUNDRED AND MOTHER WANTS TO BE A PRIEST."

Revamping urged of prison system

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A prison study workshop has called for revamping of the state's prison system, and for a moratorium on prison construction coupled with reductions in the inmate population.

The study concluded that "Citizen neglect" is responsible for a state penal system that violates rights and does not reduce crime.

The workshop session, which ended Saturday, was organized by the Ohio Council of Churches and co-sponsored by several other state organizations.

The Rev. Norman Prichard and Christopher Conybeare, cochairmen of the three-day Prison Crisis Conference said the group confirmed earlier findings that the prison system violates constitutional and human rights and that it is ineffective in reducing crime.

"The basic problem (with the state's prisons) has been citizen neglect," Conybeare said. "The general community is ignorant of what goes on in prisons and how ineffectively their money is being spent."

The Rev. Mr. Prichard said the public will have to be educated about the prison system.

Additional recommendations include investigations of recent protests at the prison reception center, at the former Ohio Penitentiary, joining a national coalition for abolition of capital punishment and changing the parole process.

The conference also supported establishment of a prison oversight committee, a review committee to examine sentencing policies and efforts to bring about improved medical care.

Conybeare said specific recommendations to set in motion those outlined by the conference will be made by the end of the month.

The church council was criticized earlier by the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction officials for interfering in the operation of the prisons.

"We feel perhaps we were condemned before we started," Conybeare said Saturday. "I think that was unfair."

He said corrections officials ignored invitations to participate in the conference.

The Treaty of Ft. Stanwix in the Mohawk Valley in New York in 1768 fixed the boundaries of Indian lands in Ohio. About 3,400 Indian warriors assembled for the conference. From the eastern end of Lake Ontario the line ran southerly to the Delaware River then west to the Allegheny River, down the Allegheny and to the Ohio and hence to the Tennessee. The Indians ceded all lands east and south of that line for goods and silver worth more than 20,000 English pounds. — AP

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Sister needs help more than he needs quiet

DEAR ABBY: May I respond to ANXIOUS SON whose problem was his sister who phones him at all hours of the night when she's "loaded"? Because this sister lives in the same city with their elderly and ailing mother, ANXIOUS SON cannot take his phone off the hook in case the call is from or about their mother.

In our city (Columbus, Ohio) and in many other cities across the country, there are treatment centers in general hospitals where an alcoholic can be admitted for treatment just as he (or she) would be if diabetes or any other disease were present. Because alcoholism is a disease, it is progressive and can become terminal. Until the public understands these facts, and reacts to them as it would to any other disease, the cure cannot be affected, and many fine people will die unnecessarily.

Please tell ANXIOUS SON to contact his mental health association or some related agency to find out where his sister can receive the treatment she needs before too much brain damage results from her drinking.

Finally, Alcoholics Anonymous (and Al-Anon and Alateen) have made the difference between me and death to many alcoholic and their families.

MRS. L.R.B.: COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR MRS. B.: I agree. ANXIOUS SON should make an all-out effort to help his drinking sister instead of seeking ways to escape her disturbing phone calls. (Those calls may well be an unconscious cry for help.) However, unless the sister calls A.A., they can't help her. A.A. doesn't go out to rescue alcoholics, the alcoholics must come to THEM.

DEAR ABBY: Whatever happened to your sense of humor and fairy play? Regarding the middle-aged woman working in an office with 10 men who, much to his dismay, used the lavatory marked "WOMEN":

If she wants privacy, all she has to do upon entering the lavatory is to hang a cardboard sign marked "NOT NOW!" outside the door.

The men would surely respect her wishes as well as her ingenuity.

M.N.

DEAR M.N.: Clever idea. And practical, too—unless some clown crosses out the "NOT."

DEAR HOTEL GUEST: I am not working here because I want to earn money; I just enjoy emptying wastebaskets full of peanut shells and stale beer. "Black Lung" is a small risk to take in exchange for the pleasure of dumping ashtrays all day long. But the best part is the invigorating exercise to turn hands sandpapering even through rubber gloves. My fondest memories will always be the thrill of pursuing those elusive little hairs all over the bathtubs.

So, you see, that tip really wasn't necessary. Please accept my deepest thanks for your generosity. The penny you left will go towards furthering my college education.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)
Investigate whatever stimulates your interest, but don't "go overboard" on a new proposition without looking below the surface.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)
A shifting of certain situations indicated; perhaps current trends altering. You should be in the action. Make the effort — discreetly.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)
Travel favored. In fact, any trip on which you embark on Wednesday could involve you in a most unusual and highly stimulating experience.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)
Controversy may prove annoying, but here is where your keen, logical mind will be an aid. Emphasize pertinent points and keep minor issues in their place.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)
A notable day for presenting new ideas; also old ones carefully treated to get the most good still left in them. Your talents should shine now.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Aspects most auspicious, but accuracy and forethought must spark all decisions, moves. Travel and social activities highly favored.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Fairly favorable influences encourage your interests, but don't go out on a limb in making program changes. Neither reach for the obviously unattainable.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Lesser matters may be highlighted now, but these could spark big achievements later. So, whatever you attempt, give your best. And do be prepared for all contingencies.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
You may discern a hint of things to come where your personal ambitions are concerned. Accept advice and support from interested friends.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
If you attempt to gain your way by unconventional methods, it could cause discord. You are generally conservative in your learnings, but there's a tendency toward indiscretion now.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Keep emotions under control and do not make drastic or needless changes on the spur of the moment. Be especially careful in a romantic involvement.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Stress moderation. Do not strive for the unreasonable and do not permit your active mind to carry your physical self beyond sensible bounds.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great integrity, exceptional poise and a most wholesome outlook on life. You are also a thinker, a philosopher at heart, and your influence could be profound indeed in the fields of writing, lecturing and teaching. However, there are many other spheres in which you could shine, careerwise, notably as a musician, singer or dancer; as a fashion designer or interior decorator; or, in the theater, as actor, playwright or producer.

RESOLUTIONS FOR AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO
CONSTITUTION PROPOSED BY THE GENERAL
ASSEMBLY TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTERS AT
THE GENERAL ELECTION, NOVEMBER 2, 1976

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION

- 1 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
- To repeal Sections 15 and 17 of Article III, and to adopt new Sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III, Ohio Constitution
1. TO PROVIDE FOR AND CLARIFY SUCCESSION TO THE GOVERNORSHIP WHEN THE GOVERNOR CAN NO LONGER SERVE.
 2. TO PROVIDE THAT THE OHIO SUPREME COURT, UPON RESOLUTION OF TWO-THIRDS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, HAS COMPLETE JURISDICTION TO DETERMINE DISABILITY OF THE GOVERNOR OR GOVERNOR-ELECT.
 3. TO PROVIDE FOR THE ELECTION OF THE GOVERNOR AND LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR WHEN BOTH OFFICES ARE VACATED DURING THE FIRST TWENTY MONTHS OF THE TERM, AND
 4. TO PROVIDE FOR SUCCESSION WHEN THE GOVERNOR-ELECT IS UNABLE TO TAKE THE OFFICE.
- (Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)
- A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 1

The proposed amendment retains the present line of succession to the office of Governor. That line of succession goes first to the Lieutenant Governor, then to the President of the Senate, and then to the Speaker of the House. Succession can result from either vacancy or disability in the office of Governor. To provide a procedure for raising the question of disability and to avoid having the question frivolously raised, the amendment proposes that the Ohio Supreme Court take original and final jurisdiction of the matter. Upon receiving a resolution passed by two-thirds of the members of each house of the General Assembly to the effect that the Governor or Governor-elect is unable to discharge the duties of his office by reason of disability, the court must determine the question of disability within twenty-one days.

If there is a vacancy in the offices of both Governor and Lieutenant Governor and if the vacancies occur prior to the expiration of the first twenty months of the term, the proposed amendment would require the election for the unexpired term of a Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the next even-numbered year general election. This special election is provided in order to prevent having the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor held for more than half the term by persons not elected on a statewide basis.

If the Governor-elect is unable to assume the office at the commencement of his term for reasons other than disability, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall assume the office of Governor for the full term. If the Governor-elect fails to assume the office because of disability, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall serve as Governor until the disability of the Governor terminates.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This proposal fills in gaps in the present constitutional provisions relating to the succession to the governorship. Ohio has been fortunate in its history in not having had a chief executive who has been physically or mentally incapacitated while in office or between the time of the election and the beginning of the term, but this has occurred in other states. This proposal provides a procedure for determining whether such disability exists by the highest judicial body in the state, and requires that the determination be made promptly upon the presentation of a resolution adopted by $\frac{2}{3}$ of the General Assembly. The necessity of obtaining $\frac{2}{3}$ of the members of the General Assembly prevents such action being taken frivolously or for purely political purposes. The adoption of this proposal will eliminate uncertainties and enable a smooth transition in the gubernatorial office if the unfortunate circumstance of gubernatorial disability should occur, and Ohio will be able to avoid problems that have created serious difficulties in other states because there was no prescribed procedure for determining disability. Other parts of this proposal will clarify other aspects of the transition from one chief executive to another during the term, by providing that a person who becomes governor or serves as governor when the office of governor becomes vacant for any reason does not receive dual compensation and no longer serves in the former capacity, whether as Lt. Governor, President of the Senate, or Speaker of the House. The proposal fills another gap in the Constitution by providing for an election of a Governor and Lt. Governor if both offices become vacant during the first 20 months of the term. The election would take place at the general state election that falls in the midpoint of the term. The voters will thus have the opportunity to express their wishes rather than permitting someone who was not elected by all the voters of the state to serve as governor for more than half of a term.

Committee For the Amendment: Gene Slagle, Tony P. Hall, Stanley J. Aronoff, John E. Johnson, Marcus A. Roberto, Michael G. Oxley.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

It has been a long-standing practice of this Republic to consider the leader of the house which serves the shortest term to have priority in the succession issue. Federal law reflects this deep-rooted principle; to wit, that the Speaker of the House of Representatives precedes the President Pro Tempore of the Senate in the line of succession to the Presidency.

The same philosophy should hold true with the succession to the Ohio Governor. Because Paragraph C of Article 3 would place the President Pro Tempore of the Senate before the Speaker of the House in succession to the Governor, we do not favor adoption of this resolution.

It could also be argued that Paragraph C of Section 16 gives the Ohio Supreme Court too much power in determining the disability of the Governor. Since 1803, the courts have assumed powers and authorities that were never given to them in the Constitution. This slow accumulation of power has been to the detriment of the Legislative branch, which has law-making responsibilities. The Ohio General Assembly, because of its closeness to the people, should be the branch of government that has final jurisdiction in determining the disability of the Governor.

Committee Against the Amendment: Irma L. Karmol, John P. Wargo.

My first opposition is directed toward Paragraph C of Article 3 of the resolution. Since Representatives Wargo and Karmol have discussed this reason in some detail, I will not elaborate my arguments at this time, except to suggest that I, likewise, am strongly opposed to having the President Pro Tempore of the Senate precede the Speaker of the House in the line of succession.

The most invidious aspect of the resolution is found in Section 16, which allows a second branch of government; to wit, the Supreme Court, to have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction in determining the disability of the Governor, a separate branch of this tri-partite government. If any of the branches have the right to determine the disability of any other branch, then that authority should rest in the hands of the Legislature, the most frequently elected branch of our government.

Since 1803, the courts have assumed powers and authorities not delegated to them in the federal Constitution. To grant the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio the original, exclusive and final jurisdiction over determining the disability of the Governor is a step backward in representative government.

It has been long-standing that that government which is closest to the people is that branch of government that is elected to the shortest term. It is the House of Representatives which is elected for the shortest term and thereby, best reflects the opinions of the people.

If any branch of government is to have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction in the area of determining the disability of the Governor, then it should be at least the House of Representatives and probably the General Assembly itself.

The entirety of Section 16 involves a very, very fine constitutional question of the separation of powers which was so delicately worked out in the federal Constitution.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION

- 2 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
- To repeal Sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution
TO ELIMINATE FROM THE CONSTITUTION OBSOLETE AND UNNECESSARY PROVISIONS REGARDING STATE PRINTING, STATIONERY, AND SUPPLIES; DUELISTS HOLDING PUBLIC OFFICE; AND A BUREAU OF STATISTICS IN THE SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE.
- (Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)
- A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 2

Section 2 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution, requires state printing to be let on contract to the lowest responsible bidder or to be done directly by the state. Public printing is now governed by adequate provisions in statutory law and the Constitutional provisions serve no purpose.

Section 5 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution, prohibits persons who fight or assist in the fighting of a duel from holding any public office in Ohio. The legislature has the power to regulate eligibility to office by adopting laws and this provision in the Constitution is, therefore, unnecessary and obsolete.

Section 8 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution, establishes a Bureau of Statistics in the Secretary of State's office. Specific detail in the Constitution establishing such a bureau in the Secretary of State's office is unnecessary since the legislature can and has accomplished the same thing by statute. The Constitution, if not amended in this respect, also might be interpreted as a restriction on legislative authority to create such duties in other state agencies.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This proposal removes three sections from the Ohio Constitution that are no longer necessary. It thus helps to achieve the desirable goal of a more understandable Constitution, free from provisions that properly belong in the laws. In this case the three provisions are adequately covered in the laws. The first, relating to public printing, stationery, and supplies, was written into the Constitution at a time when public printing constituted a major public expenditure; today, it is a much smaller part of the total expenses of governmental operation. Competitive bidding is required for state printing contracts by law and is also required for many other types of contracts for state and local purchases and services. The statutes are thus far more comprehensive than the Constitution in this respect, and matters such as these should be regulated by law. The section prohibiting duelists from holding public office falls in the same category. The legislature has authority to regulate the holding of public office by persons who have been convicted of felonies, and there are statutes that do so regulate. Moreover, dueling is no longer practiced, and a reference to it in the Constitution locks in the basic document an outmoded term. Therefore, the section has no practical application today. The legislature can alter statutes from time to time to meet changing conditions, and that is what has happened in this instance. The third section, providing for a bureau of statistics in the office of the Secretary of State, is clearly statutory in nature. Statistics are gathered by many agencies relating to many subjects in today's government, and such matters should be regulated by law as needs and conditions change.

ARGUMENT AGAINST THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Some of the language removed by this proposal is obsolete, however, there is some language we need to retain. Dueling provisions are obsolete and authority for a bureau of statistics is not needed in the Constitution but provisions governing competitive bidding are of constitutional importance.

H.J.R. 36 removes a constitutional requirement that all public printing be let by competitive bidding. The argument is used that printing is only a small part of the budget and that statutory law now requires competitive bidding. Public printing is a small part of a $12 billion biennial budget, however, printing costs exceed $9 million annually and this is not a trifling amount. Public printing and money is important . . . too important to be left to statutory law which can be changed at the whim of legislators. Competitive bidding is of constitutional importance and we need to retain it in our Constitution to safeguard the public's tax dollar.

Committee Against the Amendment: Thomas A. Van Meter.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION

- 3 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
- To amend Section 3 of Article III and to repeal Section 4 of Article III, Ohio Constitution
TO REQUIRE THE DECLARATION OF ELECTION RESULTS FOR STATE EXECUTIVE OFFICERS AT THE NEXT REGULAR SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, THEREBY PREVENTING THE POSSIBILITY OF A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE OUTGOING GENERAL ASSEMBLY BEING CALLED FOR THAT PURPOSE, AND TO REMOVE OBSOLETE LANGUAGE FROM THE CONSTITUTION.
- (Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)
- A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 3

The proposed amendment modifies the Constitution concerning the time when the election results would be presented to the General Assembly. By specifying that the presentation be made at the next regular session, it is intended to preclude the possibility of a special session being called to decide a tie vote in an election in the office of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, or Attorney General. This change eliminates the possibility that the General Assembly which is in session at the time when the election is held could decide the results of that election in the event of a tie vote for any of the above offices. Instead, the decision is deferred until the next regular session of the General Assembly to prevent "lame duck" legislators from voting on the tie. The amendment also repeals Section 4 of Article III of the Ohio Constitution, which provides for declaration of results of an election for statewide offices in a year in which there is no session of the General Assembly in January after the election. This section is now obsolete since the General Assembly is required to be in session each January.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The present constitutional provisions requiring that the results of the election for the six elected state executive officials—Governor, Lt. Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, and Attorney General—be returned to the General Assembly and declared in the presence of the members of both houses has been part of the Ohio Constitution since the days when it took weeks for election results to be counted and transported to the seat of government. The Constitution writers believed that it was important to have the results announced publicly and before the General Assembly, which would then be in a position to break a tie immediately if there should be a tie vote for any of these six officials. Today, however, it might be possible for the results of the November election to be transmitted to a General Assembly already in session or to a special session called for that purpose, if a tie vote resulted at the election. A General Assembly breaking the tie under those circumstances would be about to go out of office, and thus might no longer best represent the will of the people as expressed at the election. The proposal, therefore, requires that the election results be declared at the beginning of the next regular session of the General Assembly, which will occur when the newly-elected General Assembly assumes its duties in January following the election. This is clearly in accord with the original intention of the Constitution, and will help to prevent the type of political maneuvering that brings discredit on governmental officials.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It won't double your pleasure or double your fun, but there'll be two systems, not one, to make sure tonight's presidential debate doesn't emit the sound of silence again.

CBS is running the radio-TV "pool" at San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts, where President Ford and Jimmy Carter meet tonight at 9:30 p.m. EDT for the second of three nationally televised debates.

And CBS says it'll have a separate backup system to the one electronically feeding sights and sounds of the debate to all three networks and the Public Broadcasting Service.

The hope is that this will avoid a recurrence of the embarrassing 27-minute audio failure that came near the end of the first debate Sept. 23 in Philadelphia, when Carter was speaking.

"We'll be as redundant (in broadcast signal-providing equipment) as practically possible," says David White, the CBS engineering executive whose troops are manning tonight's radio-TV pool operation.

ABC, which ran the pool on Sept. 23, blames a tiny gizmo, worth about $1 and called an electrolytic capacitor, for the audio failure that left the debaters speechless and viewers restless.

The network said the incapacitated capacitor previously had a solid performance record, and both it and the amplifier it served were considered so reliable no backup system was thought necessary.

Sound finally was restored with the help of CBS and the telephone company in New York, 90 miles from Philadelphia.

"What happened was very unfortunate from the broadcast industry's point of view," CBS' White said of the 27-minute silence. "It was a piece of material failure and nobody wishes that kind of accident on any body."

FULL TEXT OF THE RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING EACH AMENDMENT

ISSUE 1
(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 37)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to repeal sections 15 and 17 of Article III, and to enact new sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for and clarify succession to the governorship when the governor can no longer serve, to provide a method for determining when gubernatorial disability exists, and to provide for the election of governor and lieutenant governor when both offices are vacant prior to the expiration of the term, and to provide for succession when the governor-elect is unable to take office.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the voters of the state at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1976, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III thereof, and enacting new sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III thereof as follows:

ARTICLE III

Section 15. (A) In the case of the death, conviction on impeachment, resignation, or removal of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor shall succeed to the office of Governor.

(B) When the Governor is unable to discharge the duties of office by reason of disability, the Lieutenant Governor shall serve as Governor until the Governor's disability terminates.

(C) In the event of a vacancy in the office of Governor or when the Governor is unable to discharge the duties of office, the line of succession to the office of Governor shall be as follows: first, the Lieutenant Governor; second, the President of the Senate; and third, the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 16. The Supreme Court shall have original, exclusive, and final jurisdiction to determine the disability of the Governor or Governor-elect upon presentation of a resolution of the General Assembly, which shall be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house. The Supreme Court shall give notice of the resolution to the Governor and after a public hearing, at which all interested parties may appear and be represented, shall determine the question of disability. The court shall make its determination within twenty-one days after presentation of such resolution.

If the Governor transmits to the Supreme Court a written declaration that the disability no longer exists, the Supreme Court shall, after public hearing at which all interested parties may appear and be represented, determine the question of the continuation of the disability. The court shall make its determination within twenty-one days after transmittal of such declaration.

The Supreme Court has original, exclusive, and final jurisdiction to determine all questions concerning succession to the office of Governor or to its powers and duties.

Section 17. When a vacancy occurs in both the office of Governor and Lieutenant Governor because of the death, conviction on impeachment, resignation, or removal of the persons elected to those offices prior to the expiration of the first twenty months of a term, a Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be elected at the next general election occurring in an even-numbered year after the vacancy occurs, for the unexpired portion of the term. The officer next in line of succession to the office of Governor shall serve as Governor from the occurrence of the vacancy until the newly elected Governor has qualified.

If by reason of death, resignation, or disqualification, the Governor-elect is unable to assume the office of Governor at the commencement of the gubernatorial term, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall assume the office of Governor for the full term. If at the commencement of such term, the Governor-elect fails to assume the office by reason of disability, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall serve as Governor until the disability of the Governor-elect terminates.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL.

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment and schedule shall take immediate effect, and sections 15 and 17 of Article III shall be repealed from such effective date.

SCHEDULE.

If, on the effective date of this amendment, section number 16 is already assigned to a section in Article III of the Constitution of Ohio, the Secretary of State shall assign section number 22 to the section in Article III that would be numbered section 16 by this amendment, and such number shall be the official number of this section and shall be so published in any publication of the Constitution and shall be cited and referred to by such number.

ISSUE 2
(Amended House Joint Resolution No. 36)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to repeal sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to eliminate from the Constitution obsolete provisions regarding state printing, stationery, and supplies; duelists holding public office; and a bureau of statistics in the Secretary of State's office.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the voters of the state at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1976, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV thereof.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL.

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect, and sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV shall be repealed from such effective date.

ARTICLE III

Section 3. The returns of every election for the officers, named in the foregoing section, shall be sealed and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officers, directed to the President of the Senate, who, during the first session of the next regular session, shall open the same and shall declare the result, in the presence of a majority of the members of each house of the General Assembly. The joint candidates having the highest number of votes cast for governor and lieutenant governor and the person having the highest number of votes for any other office shall be declared duly elected; but if any two or more have an equal and the highest number of votes for the same office, one of them or any two for whom joint votes were cast for governor and lieutenant governor shall be chosen by joint vote of both houses.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL.

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting thereon, this amendment shall take immediate effect and existing section 3 and section 4 of Article III shall be repealed from such effective date.

Engagement announced

MISS SUZANNE C. ELLIOTT

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Elliott of Rt. 2, Bainbridge, are announcing the engagement of their oldest daughter, Suzanne Christina Marie, to Denny L. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Riley, Rt. 5, Washington C.H.

The bride-elect is a 1976 graduate of Western High School, Latham. She will be entering Ohio State University's School of Nursing for the 1976 winter quarter.

Her fiancé was a student at Miami Trace High School, and is presently employed at Fair Chance Horse Farm.

The couple has planned a spring wedding, but a definite date has not been set.

MR. and MRS. MICHAEL A. PRESTON

Sugar Grove Methodist Church setting for recent marriage

Miss Shirley Marie Wright became the bride of Michael A. Preston in Sugar Grove United Methodist Church. The Rev. Conrad Bower performed the double-ring ceremony Sept. 3 at 7:30 p.m. for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wright Sr. of Washington C.H. and the son of Mrs. Lorene Leisure and the late William Preston.

Baskets of pink carnations and lavender asters decorated the altar. Candelabra with pink and lavender bows completed the setting.

David Puckett, vocalist, sang "If," "The Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Elaine Stookey, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of Quiana with a long flowing train of Venetian lace with cap sleeves edged in the same lace with a high rounded neckline. Her elbow-length veil was of Venetian lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, baby's breath, lavender asters and pink rosebuds.

Miss Emily Orthmeyer of Portsmouth, maid of honor, wore a lavender crepe gown with floral collar of chiffon, and a lavender hat with matching ribbon. She carried two pink carnations.

The bridesmaids, Cindy Wright and Annette Penrod, sisters of the bride, and Jacqueline Preston, sister of the groom, wore pink crepe empire styled gowns with chiffon floral collars, and matching hats. Each carried a single lavender carnation.

Guy Naylor served the duties as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Scott Crissinger, Steve Campbell and Lee Wright, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Wright chose for her daughter's wedding a floor length pink floral gown with A-line matching jacket. The groom's mother wore a floor length belted gown of designed print in pink and gray.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church basement were Mrs. Mary Jo Thornton, Mrs. John Rich and Mrs. Harriett Moore. Miss Claudia Self was in charge of the guest book, Christy Wright the rice packets, and Chuck Wright was the acolyte.

Following a wedding trip to Burr Oak, the couple is residing at 611 Perdue Plaza.

The bride a 1972 graduate from Washington Senior High School, is employed by the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H. Her husband, a 1970 Miami Trace High School graduate, attended Ohio University, Athens, and is an employee of Cor-Tec.

Jaycee Wives hold meeting

The Jeffersonville Jaycee Wives met in the home of Mrs. Ernie Wilson, when the Jaycee Creed was repeated by the six members present. They were Mrs. Bennie Allen, Mrs. Johnnie Bobbitt, Mrs. Robert Coe, Mrs. Robert Steele, Mrs. Larry Hunt and Mrs. Wilson.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Steele and plans were made for a bake sale to be held Nov. 20. The group also donated $60 to the pediatric ward at Fayette Memorial Hospital, and planned a skating party for Jan. 19, 1977.

Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Steele will be assisting hostesses for Oct. 19th meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Gamma chapter, Phi Beta Psi has projects

The October meeting of Phi Beta Psi, Gamma Chapter was held in the home of Mrs. Jim Ward Monday evening. The members have formed their craft groups in order to begin preparing items for the Sorority's Annual Antique Show Country Crafts for Cancer Booth to be held March 4, 5, 6.

The Sorority's National Cancer Project will be the recipient of the profits made by selling Christmas cards originally designed by a local chapter member. A packet of ten cards will sell for $2.00 and are available from any member. The pledges are also selling house plants.

Following the meeting, members packaged the Christmas cards for distribution. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Howard Wright and Mrs. Alfred Hagler Jr.

PERSONALS

Ray M. Foster of Cincinnati, formerly of Washington C.H., has returned home from a trip to Atlanta, Ga., and East Point, Ga., where he attended a birthday picnic for Mrs. John (Wanda) Nelligan, who was 78 years old. The picnic was at historic Stone Mountain Park. Mr. Foster was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelligan, former residents of Washington C.H., before his return by plane to Cincinnati to attend the University of Cincinnati's Raymond Walters College.

Nancy Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Benson, 1530 St. Rt. 41-SE, was one of seven girls honored for having a 3.50 average or better for the past two years in nurse's training. Nancy is a senior at the Mount Carmel Hospital School of Nursing, 127 S. Davis St., Columbus. She was presented a third year chevron, a pin and flowers at the ceremony held on Friday.

Phi Beta Psi, associate chapter 1 plays bridge

Phi Beta Psi, associate chapter I met in the home of Mrs. Edward Vollette, with Mrs. Harford Hankins, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Miss Kathleen Davis and Mrs. Ira Barchet assisting. A dessert course was served preceding the playing of bridge and the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Barchet.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Earl Gidding, first; Mrs. Emerson Marting and Mrs. Forest Ellis.

RECEIVES GRANT — Miss Kathleen Susan Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher of 149 Carolyn Rd., recently graduated from the Riverside School of Radiology at Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus. The school was affiliated with Otterbein College in Westerville. Miss Fisher is one of two of the graduating students who has received a one-year grant to Riverside Hospital in the study of Nuclear Medicine.

Choral Society to participate in charity bazaar

The Fayette County Choral Society and friends will take part in the "charity bazaar" next Saturday, Oct. 9th at Murphy Mart, 300 Washington Square. Participants are asked to donate home baked goods and miscellaneous items of unused merchandise. These may be delivered from 8 p.m. on. The sale begins at 9:30 a.m.

Daniel D. Emmett, 1815-1904, born in Mount Vernon, Ohio, author of the famous song "Dixie," at the age of 16 wrote "Old Dan Tucker," a popular song throughout America for many years. A minstrel man, his last performance was at Ironton in 1896.

EASY BEET SOUP

Quick version of Russian borsch.
2 cups lightly packed grated (medium-fine) pared beets
1 cup very finely shredded cabbage, not packed at all
1-3rd cup chopped onion
¼ cup lemon juice
Two 10½-ounce cans condensed beef broth (bouillon) diluted with 2 soup cans water
Beef bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
Commercial sour cream
In a large saucepot over low heat, tightly covered, cook the beets, cabbage, onion and lemon juice until vegetables are tender; if necessary, add a couple of tablespoons of water during cooking. Add all the beef bouillon, sugar, salt and pepper; simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Top each serving with a spoonful of sour cream. Makes about 1½ quarts — 6 servings.

Cooked this way, chicken thighs are juicy.
4 broiler-fryer chicken thighs
Wrap thighs in one layer of heavyweight foil; bring top edges of foil together and make drugstore fold; fold over ends a few times to make a leakproof package. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 500-degree oven until cooked through — 30 minutes. Open package and lift out chicken; for lowest-calorie servings, remove skin. (Pour the small amount of broth in package into a small jar; cover and chill; remove hardened fat at top before adding broth to a sauce or soup.)

Medium head (about 2 pounds) red cabbage, shredded (6 cups packed down)
Medium onion, cut in thin strips
2 large green apples (pared, cored and thickly sliced)
½ cup orange marmalade
¾ teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup cider vinegar
¼ cup water
In a large saucepot melt the butter; add all the remaining ingredients and mix well. Bring to a boil; cover tightly and simmer, stirring occasionally, until cabbage is very tender and there is very little liquid in pan — about 2 hours. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Foot Exercises

Foot gymnastics can keep feet in top condition. You can increase circulation and strengthen immobile toes by riffling the pages of a telephone book with the toes.

Pick up a marble with your bare toes and walk around on the outside of your feet, holding onto the marble as long as possible.

Walk on your heels with your toes pointed inward for two or three minutes, twice a day.

Any kind of grasping or pushing with the toes or wiggling them, even inside your shoes, is good exercise and will strengthen both foot and leg muscles.

Just remember, parts of the body that are not used — exercised — become weak. Only by vigorous use will muscles remain healthy and shapely.

Governor faces need for new job

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Gov. Dan Evans is worried about two things when he leaves office in January after 12 years in the governor's mansion — getting a job and buying a house.

"I have to go to work right away to support my family," said the nation's senior Republican governor. "There will be no sabbatical for us."

Evans, 51, has not owned a house since shortly after being elected in 1964 to the first of an unprecedented three consecutive terms.

"It's going to be frightening to go out and buy a house of our own," he admits. "Other people have been building up an inflation-created equity in their homes for years, and they can turn that in on any new home they buy."

"The home we sold in Seattle sold recently for two and a half times what we sold it for."

Evans was a 39-year-old engineer with a wife and two sons, Danny, 3, and Mark, 1, when he sold his Seattle home and moved into the governor's mansion. Danny is now 15, Mark is 13 and there is a third son, Bruce, 10, who was born while Evans was governor.

Evans said recently he expects to wind up in an administrative job, possibly at a college or university. But there's just one catch for prospective employers.

"I don't want to leave the state. I've had some good offers, but I've had to tell the companies I would accept them only after they moved their corporate headquarters to the state of Washington," he said.

As for credentials, Evans said, "I've got the benefit of spending 12 years running a state, a $3-billion corporation."

His salary was $32,500 a year until 18 months ago, when it rose to $44,000. Despite reimbursements for travel and an allowance for keeping up the mansion, Evans says "a governor seldom breaks even."

Chinese expect U.S.-Russian war

NEW YORK (AP) — Chinese Premier Hua Kuo-feng is said to have told former U.S. Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger that war between the United States and the Soviet Union is inevitable. Time Magazine also says in this week's issue that Schlesinger, a critic of detente, disagreed with Hua. Schlesinger recently completed a three-week tour of China.

The magazine says the Chinese also expect a "people's war" that would pit millions of Chinese guerrillas against Soviet armor.

Time says Chinese leaders took pains to express to Schlesinger their scorn of U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Peanut butter part of contract

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A man who plays surrogate "mom" to music stars says a $70,000 box office gross could be lost for want of chunky peanut butter.

According to City Auditorium Manager Charlie Mancuso, elaborate contract riders detailing certain requirements are signed before scheduled concerts. He said that John Denver, for example, needs a rug and comfy chair to get into a mellow mood.

Other requirements include peanut butter for the rock group Aerosmith, lime Gatorade for Peter Frampton, and three dozen long-stemmed carnations for the Doobie Brothers.

Performers legally can refuse to perform if contract details are omitted. Mancuso defends the contract riders as necessary "to counteract the traveling and the imbalance of food and drink on the road."

May test Boone's, McCarver's arms

Reds out to steal NL pennant

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who literally "stole" the National League pennant last year, may be planning to do it again with their best crop of roadrunners since 1914.

The defending world champions, baseball's winningest club in 1976, open the best-of-5 game league championship series Saturday at Philadelphia, where the club cut down only 35 baserunners in 100 attempts.

"They know we are going to run," said Ken Griffey, who blossomed as the Reds' biggest surprise on the basepaths. "Our speed is going to play a very big part."

Philadelphia catchers Bob Boone and Tim McCarver stopped the Reds only four times in 18 tries this season.

A year ago, the Reds swept Pittsburgh at Riverfront Stadium when they rewrote the record books. Cincinnati, after stealing only seven bases in 12 games during the season against the Pirates, stole 10 of 10 in the first two games for 8-3 and 6-1 victories.

The Reds led the league this season with 210 steals in 266 attempts, or eight successful thefts in every 10 tries. The season high was nine against Los Angeles, in a losing cause.

"We're going to steal and force their pitchers to make mistakes. A pitcher has come with more fastballs when he knows the guy at first is going to try to steal," said Griffey, who had a career-high 33 thefts in 44 attempts. His previous season-high was 16, set last year.

Joe Morgan and Griffey, who key the Cincinnati running game, stole 93 times in 113 tries as the Reds improved on last year's total by 42.

Morgan, the versatile 5-foot-7 second baseman, had 60 steals in 69 attempts as the Reds surpassed the 200-theft plateau for the first since 1914.

Cincinnati closed out another record-setting season

UNLEASH THE RABBITS — Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson (left) may release his base-stealing rabbits led by Joe Morgan (right) against Philadelphia in the National League playoffs.

Sunday with club marks in runs, 857; hits, 1599; and runs batted in, 802.

The Phils won the season series seven games to five, winning seven of the first nine games. But the Reds swept the last three to trigger Philadelphia's near-fatal swoon of 24 defeats in their next 28 games.

The Reds opened workouts today with right-hander Jack Billingham still a question mark in the three-man playoff rotation. He strained a bicep in his throwing arm in Sunday's finale against Atlanta, pitching only one inning.

Georgia climbs in grid poll

by HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The Georgia Bulldogs supplanted UCLA as the No. 4 team in the Associated Press college football ratings today, moving up to challenge

Michigan, Pitt and Oklahoma, the 1-2-3 clubs for the second week in a row.

Georgia's impressive 21-0 triumph over Alabama booted the losers out of the Top Twenty for the first time since 1970 and shot the Bulldogs from sixth to fourth. Besides Alabama, Penn State's perennial Eastern champs also were missing from the rankings for the first time since mid-1970 when they were beaten by Kentucky 22-6 for their third consecutive setback. However, the Nittany Lions were back in the rankings by the end of the 1970 season. Alabama was not.

Michigan held down the No. 1 position for the fourth week in a row with a 31-0 triumph over Wake Forest. The Wolverines received 52 first-place votes and 1,182 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up Pitt, a 44-31 winner over Duke after piling up a 37-7 lead, received three first-place ballots and 992 points. Last week, Michigan led the Panthers 1,208-972 with 61 panelists voting.

Oklahoma retained third place with three No. 1 votes and 914 points after downing Iowa State 24-10. Then came Georgia with the other two top votes — the first of the season for the Bulldogs — and 870 points.

UCLA slipped from fourth to fifth and Ohio State went from eighth to 10th after the Rose Bowl rivals played to a 10-10 standoff.

Georgia's rise also dropped Nebraska from fifth to sixth. The Cornhuskers had to rally to defeat Miami, Fla., 17-9.

Maryland stayed in seventh place by beating Villanova 20-9 while Kansas climbed from ninth to eighth with a 34-24 victory over Wisconsin.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Missouri, a 24-3 winner over North Carolina, and Ohio State. Missouri was 12th a week ago.

The Second Ten consists of Southern Cal, Florida, Boston College, Notre Dame, Texas Tech, Texas, Texas A&M, Arkansas, North Carolina and Louisiana State.

Last week, it was LSU, Missouri, Southern Cal, North Carolina, Boston College, Mississippi, Texas Tech, Notre Dame, Florida and Penn State. Ole Miss fell out following a 10-0 loss to Auburn.

Texas returned to the rankings after a two-week absence while Texas A&M and Arkansas got back in after one-week vacations. Texas trounced Rice 42-15 while A&M downed Illinois 14-7 and Arkansas trimmed Texas Christian 46-14.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

State's bow season for Deer set Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio hunters can expect to go after an increased herd Friday when the state's bow season opens.

Ohio Division of Wildlife officials report the state's whitetail deer population is now an estimated 90,000. That's 10,000 more than a year ago and represents the largest recorded herd.

Officials contend the increase can be traced to the zone system for managing the herd in different parts of the state.

Miami Trace moves up

AP Prep poll leaders retain top positions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Moeller, Ironton and Newark Catholic all maintained their leads today, with the latter two facing new challenges in The Associated Press' Ohio high school weekly football ratings.

Moeller, the defending big school playoff champion, was the most impressive leader for the second straight week, piling up a 286-200 point advantage over No. 2 Findlay. Third-place Gahanna was one point behind Findlay.

Ironton's 193 points pace the Class AA poll of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters with Cincinnati Wyoming emerging as a new threat in second place with 163 points.

Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, once beaten and second a week ago, dropped to the third spot with 151 points, swapping spots with Wyoming, the middle school playoff runnerup last fall.

Sandusky St. Mary's, taking advantage of runnerup Carey's loss to Marion Pleasant last week, moved from third to second in the class A points. St. Mary's had 172 points to Newark Catholic's leading total of 208.

The first two teams in all three divisions are unbeaten and untied in four games this season.

Alliance, off to its best start of 4-0-0 since 1954, surged from 11th to seventh behind fourth-ranked Zanesville, No. 5 Youngstown Mooney and No. 6 Cincinnati Princeton in Class AAA.

Niles, defeated by Massillon 13-8, slipped two notches to eighth while No. 9 Steubenville and No. 10 Lorain Senior made their first appearances of the season in the Top Ten.

In Class AA, Huron held onto No. 4. St. Marys to fifth. New Lexington, a former poll champion, vaulted from 10th to sixth. Columbus Watterson and Brookville shared seventh. Shelby kept ninth and Orrville moved up to the 10th position.

Elyria Catholic, eighth last week, and Uhrichville Claymont, tied for 10th, suffered defeats.

CLASS AAA
1. Cincinnati Moeller, 4-0-0, 286 points.
2. Findlay, 4-0-0, 200.
3. Gahanna, 4-0-0, 199.

Low score recorded at Country Club

The team of Jim Polk, Bart Mahoney, Ed Vollette, and Roland Holthouse shot an 18-under par 54 Sunday to win a team best-ball event with handicap at the Washington Country Club.

The team carded five eagles, eight birdies and parred the remaining holes for one of the lowest team scores recorded at the country club.

Polk led his team with an actual score of 75 followed by Mahoney's 83, Vollette's 86 and Holthouse with a 95.

The team of Gary Knisley, Robert Heiny, John Arbogast and David

Loudner finished second two strokes back with a 56.

59—Dan Huffman—Jim Alkire—David Boswell—Ben Wright—Roger Miller—Steve Lewis—John Bath—Gordon McCarty.

63—Glen Helmick Sr.—S.E. Vaughn—George Walker—Talmadge Taylor.

66—Glen Helmick Jr.—William Friece—Pat Riley—Bill Cupp.

67—Robert Rine—Steve Willis—Tom Reese—Donald Crabtree.

Next Sunday, the country club will hold its "Old Pal" tournament.

Vike defense ravages Super Bowl champs

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's "Purple People Eaters" look hungrier than ever in 1976 and they remain unbeaten a month into the National Football League season.

The Vikings, now 3-0-1, capitalized on six Pittsburgh turnovers and ravaged the defending Super Bowl champions 17-6 in a nationally televised interconference battle Monday night, leaving the Steelers critically wounded.

"I can't believe our defense has ever matched our effort," said fifth-year middle linebacker Jeff Siemon. "In terms of total effort, everyone is coming up with big plays."

And while the defense did its thing, the Minnesota offense stayed on the ground more than normal under the direction of quarterback Bob Lee, who played the entire game for Fran Tarkenton.

The 36-year-old Tarkenton missed the first starting assignment of his 16-year career because of injury. The veteran Vikings' defense picked off four Terry Bradshaw passes, recovered two Pittsburgh fumbles, and blocked two field goal tries and an extra point attempt. The work of the Minnesota special team on the Steelers' kicking game left Pittsburgh's Roy Gerela astounded.

"You get a kick blocked on you once in awhile and you expect it," said Gerela in the subdued Steelers' locker room. "But three in a row. That's never happened to me."

The Vikings have now blocked three-of-four extra point tries and three field goal attempts.

Pruitt sees self winner

CINCINNATI (AP) — The statistics gave Archie Griffin an edge, but Greg Pruitt claimed he was the winner in the first Battle of the Bantam Backs.

"You saw the both of us play," said Pruitt, in the Cleveland Browns' clubhouse Sunday after a 45-24 loss to the Cincinnati Bengals.

"Now who's the greatest?" he asked several teammates.

"He ain't as fast; he ain't as quick; he ain't as good," said Pruitt, who stands 5-foot-9. Griffin is 5-foot-7½.

"Just kidding," he grinned, turning to reporters.

Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner, outgained Pruitt 75 to 70 in rushing, indicating he is ready to bid for his first 100-yard day in the National Football League.

"Greg may have won that first battle," said Bengals' veteran wide receiver Chip Myers, "but I think Archie will be better in the end."

"Pruitt is better right now because he has more experience, but in my mind Archie shows more talent in his first year than Pruitt did as a rookie," added Myers.

Griffin, after a slow start, has now rushed for 78 and 75 yards in his last two games to give him a season total of 206 yards in four games. At that rate, he would finish with about 700 yards.

Pruitt gained 369 yards in his first year, had 540 as a sophomore and broke into the prestigious 1,000-yard ranks last year.

Lions lose golf match to Wilmington

Wilmington easily defeated Washington C.H., 166 to 192, in South Central Ohio League golf action Monday.

The loss was the Blue Lions third in 10 outings this year. Coach Rick Crooks' squad is still near the top of the league standings with a 4-3 record.

Kevin Barrett shot a 39 and Tony Berlin carded a 41 to lead the Hurricane team to victory at the Snow Hill Country Club.

John Mooney was low man for the Blue Lions with a 43. Greg Tillett followed with a 45 and Willie Hatfield and Gary Fisher rounded out the scoring with a 51 and 53 respectively.

The Blue Lions will play Circleville this evening before traveling to Chillicothe for the sectional tournament.

Softball tourney

A drawing for two separate division softball tournaments in Blanchester this weekend will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

There will be one tournament for Class A teams and one tournament for Class B teams. All games will be played at the Blanchester Legion Field.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

The importance of planning the play cannot be exaggerated. To be a competent declarer, one must not only organize a plan of action at the start, but also be prepared to amend that plan later on.

Very often, the most critical point of the play comes at trick one. That is the time when the defense launches its attack with the opening lead — which by itself is frequently crucial — and when declarer decides on his method of play.

If declarer reacts hastily at trick one, even when his play seems automatic, it is an indication that he has not been properly trained for his job. To play first and think later is putting the cart before the horse, and many a declarer lives to regret the speed of his first play.

Take this deal, where West led a diamond and declarer promptly followed low from dummy because he was getting a free finesse. He won East's ten with the jack and led a low club to the ten, which held. When he played another club to the king, West took the ace.

Back came a diamond to dummy's ace, and South found himself locked in dummy with no way of reaching the closed hand to cash his three club tricks and the king of diamonds. East later scored three spades and two hearts to defeat the contract two tricks.

Had South given more thought to his first play, he would have rejected the gratuitous diamond finesse and gone up with the ace. After forcing out the ace of clubs, he would have scored at least nine tricks — consisting of one spade, two hearts, two diamonds and four clubs. It pays to plan the play.

Good Posture Means Good Health

I am amazed at the poor posture that so many of my students have in high school. They slump and crouch. I can't believe that this does not affect their health in adult life. — Miss D.W., Ore.

Dear Miss W.:

The posture of an adult reflects the posture that has been acquired or been taught as a child or an adolescent.

I am sure that the present vogue for slouching will eventually affect adult posture and general attractiveness.

The Department of Education of the American Medical Association has outlined an excellent set of rules for better posture. You can contribute immeasurably to your students if some of these suggestions are followed.

While standing:

- 1) Keep feet slightly apart, weight balanced on both feet and toes straight ahead.
- 2) Keep knees straight and relaxed.
- 3) Hips tucked in, abdomen flat, chest slightly up and forward.
- 4) Neck and head balanced over the body, chin in.

While walking:

- 1) Comfortable, well-fitted shoes.
- 2) Feet parallel and close together as you step, with toes straight ahead.
- 3) Control the length of the step for an even, rhythmic stride.
- 4) Swing arms loosely and easily.

While sitting:

- 1) Thighs should be supported by the chair as far as the curve of the knee.
- 2) Feet should be kept flat on the floor.
- 3) Back should be supported by the chair back, the body kept straight from the hips to the neck.

While working:

- 1) Stand erect and balanced.
- 2) Correct working heights to prevent slumping or excessive reaching.
- 3) Good posture can be acquired with proper direction and training.

Ohio makes 40 trade contracts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Development Director James A. Duerk said Monday a trade mission to four European countries resulted in contacts with 40 firms considering expansion in Ohio.

Four companies, including an auto parts manufacturer, will visit Columbus within the next month, according to Deputy Director A.L. Wallace, who led the two week mission which returned last weekend.

Duerk also announced ground-breaking Monday in Medina of a joint venture involving the Babcock Company and Turbo-Luftechnik of Germany, manufacturer of an axial flow fan. The company will eventually employ 100 workers, Duerk said.

On a separate matter, the development department jabbed at the Democratic-controlled Emergency Board which recently refused to release money for out-of-state development travel.

In a letter to the Appalachian Regional Commission, Paul E. Baldrige, an Ohio alternate member, said he would not be able to attend a Tuesday meeting in Charleston, W. Va.

"Our state emergency board has failed to authorize an out-of-state travel for this department for this current quarter and therefore Ohio will not be represented," Baldrige wrote. "Knowing that the meeting is extremely important to all 13 of our Appalachian states and our nation, I hope that the meeting will be well attended and that you will make some progress in the critical policy issue concerning the effective operation of the Appalachian Regional Commission..."

Remember those beautiful color photographic prints at the Fayette County Fair this year. Most of those were made by the CIBACHROME process. Cibachrome prints are fun to make. Cibachrome prints are also easy to make. If you remember, I said that even Osgood could make great prints with Cibachrome. That proves it's easy.

This week at the CKFN classes we will be showing a film on the Cibachrome process. If you're interested in the process try to get to this week's class. Also at this week's classes we will be taking up SLR photography and how to get the most from your reflex camera.

Once again we'd like to remind you that we are in the middle of AGFACHROME season. For the fall colors there is just nothing — no film made — that can hold a candle to AGFACHROME to capture the beautiful warm colors of autumn. If you've never used AGFACHROME for color slides you're in for a surprise. That's for 126 size as well as the 135, and I might add that you can get the AGFACHROME for beautiful color prints for the pockets, that's 110 size; the regular Instamatic size, 126; as well as the 35 mm. If you haven't tried these great German films you should give them a try.

Involving car, tractor

Clarksville driver injured in mishap

A Monday afternoon tractor and car collision hospitalized a Clarksville man, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

John D. Jackson, 33, of Clarksville, was treated and released from Fayette County Memorial Hospital after his pickup truck traveling north on Ohio 41-N, collided with a tractor at 2:45 p.m. Monday.

The tractor, driven by William N. Kelley, 55, of Jeffersonville, reportedly pulled into the path of the car from a private driveway located south of the Madison and Fayette County line.

The pickup truck was severely damaged, and the tractor was moderately damaged. Kelley was charged with failure to yield to an oncoming vehicle.

Hope A. Hatmasher, 23, of 432 Highland Ave., told sheriff's deputies that while her car was parked on the Possum Hollar Lounge parking lot, CCC Highway-W, sometime Friday, it was struck and moderately damaged by a hitskip vehicle.

Officers check vandalism case

A reported vandalism incident which caused an estimated $175 in damage to two vehicles was investigated Monday by Washington C.H. police officers.

Two dump trucks belonging to the W.K.W. Construction Co., 225 S. Main St., were reportedly damaged by vandals who broke various windows and mirrors on the vehicles, sometime between Friday and Monday morning.

The trucks had been parked at the Emerald Glen Construction project site in the Storybrook Addition.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that a white concrete elephant valued at $50 belonging to Edna M. Lux, 59, of 9041 U.S. 22-E, was removed from her front yard sometime Saturday or Sunday.

Overheated dryer fire extinguished

Washington C.H. firemen spent over an hour at a local grain elevator Monday as they successfully extinguished a fire in an overheated grain dryer.

Summoned at 1:57 p.m. Monday to the Fayette Landmark grain elevator at 302 S. Fayette St., firemen extinguished a dryer which had overheated. Damage was estimated at $100.

Firemen were also present at the Cor-Tec, Inc. plant, 2351 Kenskill Ave., to check an electrical short in the building that had taken place around 4 p.m. Monday. There was no fire and no report of damage.

Prayer breakfast draws 86 persons

Eighty-six persons attended the teen prayer breakfast Tuesday morning at the South Side Church of Christ.

"Four Young People God Needs" was the topic the Rev. Charles Richmond chose for the meditation period. Jowanda Vernon, a sophomore at Miami Trace High School, and Melanie McArthur, a sophomore at Washington Senior High School, led the singing accompanied by Marilyn Creamer, a senior at Miami Trace High School. Kelly Steele, a senior at Washington Senior High School, delivered the prayer for the food.

John Fields, a senior at Washington Senior High School, spoke on peace. He said "we could have that perfect peace if we would put our complete trust in God." Jon Creamer, a teacher at Washington Senior High School, offered the closing prayer.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be Tuesday, October 12 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades nine through twelve, are invited.

Francois A. Michaux, French botanist writing of his travels in 1802, reported sycamore trees along the Ohio River 44 and 47 feet in circumference, and poplars, or tulip trees, 15 to 18 feet in diameter. Wild cherries of four to five feet were not uncommon. —AP

Foreign policy debate slated for Wednesday

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Carter and President Ford are going into virtual seclusion in San Francisco as they prepare to argue foreign affairs in the second round of an election year debate triple header.

Both candidates planned to keep low profiles today as they prepared for Wednesday night's debate, but Carter took a few parting swings at Ford for his handling of the Earl Butz affair.

Butz resigned as Ford's agriculture secretary Monday under heavy fire from both Republicans and Democrats who expressed outrage after Butz was quoted as describing in obscene and derogatory terms what he said were the sexual, sartorial and bathroom preferences of blacks.

But Butz, who has been campaigning for Ford along with other members of the Cabinet, said he does not plan to vanish from the campaign trail. In his resignation, he said he plans to "continue to work tirelessly" for Ford. Officials of the Ford election campaign say they aren't sure how Butz will fit into the campaign in its final weeks, but one Ford campaign source said, "I think you may hear a good deal from him."

Ford had reprimanded Butz on Friday, but he resisted intense pressure, including some from within his own party, to fire Butz.

Finally, looking grim as he appeared before reporters, Ford accepted Butz' resignation, calling it "one of the saddest decisions of my presidency."

Carter was on his way to San Francisco when word reached him that Butz had quit, and he said, "The way this whole embarrassing and disgusting episode was handled by President Ford shows a continuation of lack of leadership."

The Democratic nominee added: "Instead of making his decision based on what was right and best for the country, he very carefully waited until he assessed public opinion polls to see what was right politically, and when the political pressure got so great on him from his own people, then he finally accepted Earl Butz's resignation. I think he should have done so immediately."

Ford had no comment other than his statement accepting the resignation, and he walked away after reading it without responding to questions.

Meanwhile, the League of Women Voters announced plans to hold the debate between the vice presidential nominees, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, in Houston on Oct. 15.

Both Ford and Carter planned to stay in San Francisco until the 9:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday debate at the city's historic Palace of Fine Arts. Neither retirement of Charles Foster last December. Scott presented the officer with his new badge while City Manager George Shapter waited to offer his congratulations.

Brown promoted to captain

By GEORGE MALEK

Police Specialist Dennis Brown took a few minutes out of his shift with the Washington C.H. Police Department Tuesday morning to receive a new badge.

A gold badge and other gold uniform appointment signify the rank of captain and will replace the silver decorations on Brown's uniform.

The veteran officer, who will celebrate his 11th anniversary with the department Wednesday, outdistanced three fellow policemen on the captain's promotional examination was promoted in the office of City Manager George H. Shapter.

Shapter, Police Chief Rodman Scott and Brown met for the formal change of rank. The ceremonies lasted only about 10 minutes and Brown returned to duty after less than a half hour "off."

The captain's examination was held Sept. 23, but test scores were not disclosed until late Monday afternoon. Promotional appointments are based solely on the scores of a written examination.

The 36-year-old Brown correctly answered 160 of the 170 test questions for a 94 per cent score. Chief Scott said that probably no more than three per cent of all police captains in Ohio would have scored higher on the test.

Scott, who did not know himself until

Monday who was to be appointed, said he had not been concerned. Four "good men" took the test and he would not have been unhappy with any one of them, the chief stated. Taking the test in addition to Brown were Larry Walker, Larry Hott and William Robinson, all police specialists.

Raised in the Youngstown area, Brown is a veteran of the Korean War

where he served with the U.S. Air Force. After his discharge, he became a civilian employee at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton and was receiving training through the Dayton Police Department when he applied for the position of patrolman in Washington C.H.

He was appointed to the department Oct. 6, 1965. Brown became certified as the department's firearms instructor in 1966 and has won several awards for marksmanship.

He took additional training in drug detection and criminology in 1971 and was appointed to the rank of police specialist in 1973.

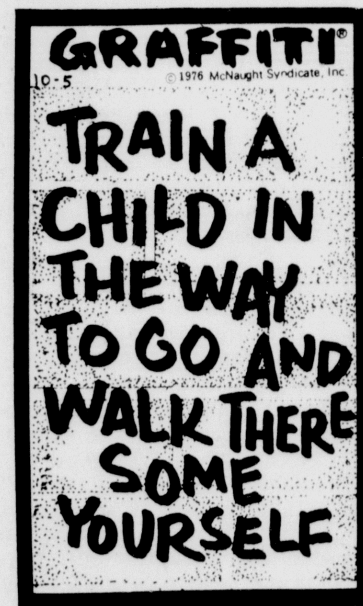

The newly-appointed captain is certified as an instructor in the Ohio criminal code and is a licensed senior operator of the breathalyzer. He is in charge of the breathalyzer operation in the department and is an instructor for the Washington Senior High School ROTC program.

A bachelor, Brown resides at 1018 S. North Street.

THE DEPARTMENT still has one vacancy in the sergeants ranks. A sergeant's promotion examination is scheduled later this month.

department back to the same manpower it enjoyed a year ago at this time.

Captain Charles Foster and Sgt. Virgil Harris announced their retirement in December, and the department has operated short-handed ever since.

Scott said his department was undermanned even before the two veteran officers retired, and he hopes that three or four patrolmen can be appointed soon.

A patrolman's test was held last month, and those who passed have completed their interviews before the Washington C.H. Civil Service Commission.

Background data is still being compiled on the candidates, and an eligibility list is expected in the near future.

The city manager said he expects at least two patrolmen to be appointed as soon as the list is complete.

Mild temperatures covered Ohio today but a change is on the way.

Clouds were to be on the increase today with the approach of a cold front which extends from the upper Great Lakes into the mid-Mississippi Valley and will move to extreme western Ohio Wednesday morning.

With the increasing cloudiness, showers or thundershowers were to invade western Ohio today, covering the rest of the state tonight.

Cooler air will move into Ohio Wednesday as the showers diminish. Highs this afternoon will be mainly in the 70s, cooling off to the 60s Wednesday.

Readings tonight will range from the 40s northwest to the 50s over the rest of the state.

Butz to continue stumping for Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl L. Butz, having resigned as agriculture secretary because of the furor raised by a racial slur he made against blacks, says he still wants to campaign in the farm belt for President Ford.

City school board action

A PETITION requesting that a residence owned by St. Andrew's Episcopal Church be transferred to the Washington C.H. School District was received by board members during Monday's meeting.

The Rev. Dr. Leroy Davis, who resides in the church-owned home on Ohio 41-S, requested the transfer with the approval of the church vestry.

The church property and four other lots lie in an island of non-city property which is almost totally surrounded by the corporation limits. However, since it is not immediately adjacent to the City of Washington C.H. it cannot be annexed.

The church pastor is seeking transfer to the city school district because he feels that the church is basically city oriented. Besides being surrounded by city, most of the membership resides within the city. For the past three years he and his wife, Marsha, who attended the meeting, have paid more than $1,000 annually in tuition to have their children attend city schools.

They pointed out that if their children attended Miami Trace schools, they would have to travel about twice as far each day.

The board agreed to seek a transfer of the parcel to the city school district for school purposes only. It was noted that since the property is owned by the church it pays very little in taxes and thus costs the Miami Trace district very little revenue.

IN OTHER action, the board: —Agreed to cooperate with Ohio State University in a psychological testing survey of fourth through sixth graders. Parental permission will be sought by the school before children are asked to participate. Nestor said the tests consist of picture and word association games.

—Accepted an offer from Frisch's

Restaurant to provide $1.90 gift certificates to presented to students who earn special recognition.

—Rejected all bids received for health insurance because all were higher than the present coverage provided by Blue Cross.

—Set Nov. 15 as the date to receive bids on insurance of school-owned buildings. The board will approve a new insurance contract at its Nov. 22 meeting.

—Agreed to cooperate with Miami Trace High School in sharing the services of a learning disabilities supervisor who will be paid through a state grant.

—Noted that 775 students are enrolled at Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus this fall, an increase over 1975.

—Authorized Maurice Pfeifer, high school principal, to assist in the evaluation of Circleville High School's academic program Feb. 1 and 2.

—Permitted the rental of a classroom by the World Book Co. for three nights later this month for a training conference.

—Allowed use of the Middle School lunchroom the morning of Oct. 22 by the City Teachers Association for a joint meeting with county teachers regarding teachers' legal rights and responsibilities.

—Granted the Washington Lions Club permission to use the Middle School auditorium for rehearsals and performance of the annual variety show March 7 and 8.

—Allowed use of the Middle School gymnasium for a Jaycees-sponsored BB gun safety and shooting class on Saturdays Oct. 16-Dec. 11.

—Approved meeting expenses for several faculty members, and

—Hired a tutor on a part-time basis, and approved the employment of several instructors for fall classes by the Community Education program.

Carter's farm policy

Carter for 21 years, is a cotton farmer and ginners from Winder, Ga.

Smith opened the engagement by making a brief speech to a gathering of farmers and agribusinessmen, and local Democratic Party members.

Fayette County Commissioner Robert Mace and M. David Urmonst, chairman of the Ohio Carter Committee for Food and Agriculture, were present, as well as Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford and Morrison Gilbert, the Democratic Party nominees for two Fayette County Commissioner seats.

Having traveled to farm centers in 30 states, Smith said he has found that no matter how different the American farmers' agriculture operations are from one another, all share basic problems and goals.

Smith said that a figure of $22 billion in receipts from farmers' annual export market sales was sizeable, but not due to the Republican administration's claim that a "free market" was the reason.

Carter's food and agriculture secretary said that disastrous weather patterns throughout the world and the devaluation of the U.S. dollar had combined to create a demand for the American farmer's products.

Smith added that target prices, established by the current administration, guaranteeing minimum prices for farm commodities, have no validity now due to inflation and rising production costs.

He said that under a Carter administration, one farm policy requirement would be to have "realistic target prices" which would cover minimum production costs. According to Smith, Carter does not believe in high support prices, but feels that target prices now do not even cover production costs in most cases.

Stressing the fact that the Democratic presidential nominee is a farm businessman, who completely operated the Carter family peanut farm in Georgia from 1953 to 1970, Smith said he would obtain Carter's view on a particular farm question asked by a member of the audience, and send a reply to that person.

In the course of his replies to a number of questions, Smith received a vocal "amen" from the audience when he stated that the present crop forecasts reported periodically by the U.S. Department of Agriculture were "not right" and should more accurately predict the resulting harvest figures.

Stating that, "Mr. Butz has been in enough trouble lately without me jumping on him," Smith nonetheless referred to former administration agricultural policy which he said has tended to pit consumer against farm producer and not inform both segments. Smith said that the American consumer spends 16 per cent of his disposable income on groceries, the lowest percentage of any nation in the world.

In closing, Smith told the audience that three traits characteristic of Jimmy Carter are that he is "a farmer, a small businessman, and a Christian."

candidate had plans for any public appearances.

Carter scheduled meetings with foreign policy advisers as well as a rehearsal session in which aides were to test him with questions that may come up during the nationally broadcast debate.

Ford spokesman Ron Nessen said the Republican candidate planned to spend some time studying legislation passed late last week by Congress in addition to studying for the debate.

In addition to rapping Ford's handling of Butz, Carter accused Ford of putting together a patchwork proposal on halting the spread of nuclear arms. The proposal, he said, was based on Carter speeches.

Schoendienst fired

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst, who guided St. Louis to a World Series title in 1967, has been fired as manager of the Cards, team President August A. Busch said today.

"We simply felt that a change was in order," said Busch.

A successor to Schoendienst will not be named at this time, a team spokesman said.

Butz, who had tears in his eyes when he announced his resignation Monday at the White House, said he is determined to "continue to work tirelessly" for Ford's election.

White House spokesman Ron Nessen had no comment when asked if Ford intended to accept Butz' offer to campaign. But James A. Baker III, the Ford campaign manager, said he would discuss the idea with Butz.

"Let's face it," Baker said, "a lot of agriculture people out there support him."

A source close to Butz said Butz may be used by the Ford Campaign Committee's Farm Division. "I think you may hear a good deal from him. There will be a lot of platforms that he can take either through the committee or as a private citizen," the source said.

A number of farm spokesmen expressed regret over Butz' departure and said he was not a racist.

Butz had referred to blacks as "coloreds" and used some obscene and derogatory language to describe what he said were the only three things they wanted in life.

His comments, made in a conversation with John Dean and singers Pat Boone and Sonny Bono aboard an airplane in August, were published in Rolling Stone and New Times magazines.

Butz apologized publicly for the remarks and, according to the White House, was severely reprimanded by Ford on Friday. The White House said Ford had not demanded Butz' resignation, and Nessen refused to say what Ford might have done if Butz had tried to remain on.

Ford, in accepting the resignation, told reporters Monday that it "has been one of the saddest decisions of my presidency." Describing Butz as a "close personal friend," Ford said he felt the secretary was "wise enough and courageous enough to recognize that no single individual, no matter how distinguished his past public service, should cast a shadow over the integrity and good will of American government by his comments. For that reason I have accepted the resignation of this decent and good man."

ding defense contracts, Taft said. He's wrong in that and he knows it. And when I pointed that out the other day, he backed down. Now he admits a $10 billion savings isn't possible. Now he says it might only be $6.5 billion."

Taft had spoken in similar terms during a Columbus news conference early Monday morning, before departing by helicopter to Athens, Jackson, Portsmouth, Chillicothe and other cities besides Washington C.H. Taft, who is about to complete his first term as a U.S. senator, after having served as a U.S. representative and in the Ohio House of Representatives, fielded questions after his 15-minute speech.

Speaking in reference to agricultural matters, Taft said that although he disapproved of recent controversial statements made by former agriculture secretary Earl Butz, administration farm policies had enabled America to be the leading grain exporter in the world.

In the course of further questions, Taft again emphasized defense spending proposals, and voiced his opinion that the U.S. should maintain a strong array of armaments.

If his opponent did his homework, Taft said, he would find that the Soviet Union is engaged in a build-up of offensive weapons.

"In strategic forces, the Soviet Union has recently deployed four new ICBMs, and has at least four more in development. We deployed our last new type in 1962, and have only one in development," he pointed out.

"Our Ohio Class Trident submarine will not enter service until the 1980s. The Soviet equivalent, the Delta, which can sit at its dock at Petropavlovsk and destroy every city in Ohio, is in service with the Soviet fleet."

At approximately 5:20 p.m., Taft concluded his visit by thanking local members of the Republican Party, including Taft campaign chairman Charline Cunningham, for their support, and returned with his press aid to the waiting helicopter.

more than five years
in your new building

YOU SHOULD
THIS:

The initial cost of a new building is only one aspect of the total cost of ownership.

You also have to consider such things as utilities, maintenance and repairs. These may not seem important in a new building but they can really mount up when a building puts on a few years.

A high quality, professionally built building may cost you more initially but it will quite likely cost you less after just a few years of operation.

If you're thinking about building, give us a call. We'll show you some specific ways you can save money. And keep saving it for a long time to come.

Only the saplings grow

It is pleasant to learn that something is flourishing as a result of the joint U.S.-Soviet orbital space mission last year, even if it is only saplings from seed aboard the Apollo and Soyuz spacecraft. How much more satisfying it would be, though, to read a news story about plans for further collaboration.

Each of the manned capsules involved in the linkup a year ago carried seeds — spruce, fir, cedar, larch — to test how they were affected by conditions in space. Seedlings later were sprouted in New York and Moscow botanical gardens. Now they are to be planted; some in one of the cosmonauts' Siberian birthplace, some at the Baikonur Cosmodrome, some along Cosmonaut's Alley in Moscow.

This is all very nice. The aggravating thing is that, at the present rate of progress, the saplings will be grown to trees before the Soviet government agrees to any further steps toward working together in space.

Officials at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are said to have made overtures from time to time since the Apollo-Soyuz mission. The American astronauts, if memory serves, sent a telegram to their opposite numbers in Russia on the first anniversary and got no reply. The Soviets have been chary of providing information about their own missions since then.

Apparently, to sum up, there is nothing in the works looking to other U.S.-Soviet cooperation. That is a disappointment, because it seems evident that as mankind reaches farther out into the universe there will be more and more compelling reasons — economic reasons, as well as others — for pooling national resources in a common undertaking. Additional U.S.-Soviet cooperation should be nurtured as those saplings germinated in space will be.

THESE DAYS By John Chamberlain

Carter: 'Betrayer of the South'?

There are some 45 million "evangelical" Protestants in the U.S. Jimmy Carter's own denomination, the Southern Baptists, number 13 million. Seemingly, this would constitute a formidable voting bloc for a born-again Christian whose speaking technique owes much to a study of evangelical sermons. But what I encountered on a visit to Louisiana and Alabama a week ago makes me doubt that this will be what George Gallup, the pollster, has called "the Year of the Evangelical." The truth is that the now famous, or notorious, Playboy interview left an uneasy feeling among certain of the evangelicals. A Southern editor (I'll leave his name out of it, for journalists like to control their own pronouncements) put it this way. You must, he said, realize something about Baptists. They don't favor adultery. But if it must be practiced, they feel it should be after dark, and preferably in the choir loft. And certain words should not be used in talking about it. The editor obviously considered the Baptist feeling he was describing less a matter of hypocrisy than of civilized taste.

In giving the interview to Playboy, Carter may have thought he was being honest in an earthy way the common man, including evangelicals, would understand. But Southern evangelicals do not consider Playboy a fitting medium for a Presidential candidate, even though it does run serious articles, and when Carter descended to the colloquialisms considered appropriate to girlie magazines they raised many an eyebrow. Repeating the editor's remarks about sin in the choir loft to every Baptist I could corner in Louisiana and Alabama, I discovered that Carter's description of his wrestling with his own lustful thoughts had offended many people who think godly men should refrain from ungodly language.

The feeling is still strong in the South that people should live by gentlemanly code. It is this aspect of the South that caused Jeffrey St. John, a New York journalist and radio man, to desert a promising career as a CBS Radio-TV "Spectrum" commentator to move to southern Virginia. Mr. St. John has long had a "thing" about the anti-centralist political philosophy of the great Virginian founders of the Republic, and he detests the "social engineering" attitude that Jimmy Carter has espoused in linking up with the Mondale type of Northern Democrat that turns all things over to Washington. In a searing book called "Jimmy Carter's Betrayal of the South," just off the press in paper back, Mr. St. John has paid a passionate tribute to the Southern code which puts "a premium on morals, meaning the respect a Southerner paid to himself, and to manners, the respect paid to others." He finds that Jimmy Carter has offended both in morals and manners, mainly by his failure to "level" with his own Southern constituents about where he actually stands on issues affecting the Southern view of life.

The case against Carter is that he seems willing to embrace any power bloc that stands ready to give him a few more votes. Since he already had the pious in his corner, he went out of his way to appeal to the Playboy sinners. This has been his pattern. According to Mr. St. John, he ran a "red neck" campaign to become governor of Georgia. He won by getting the Lester Maddox vote.

Then he proceeded to go "Northern liberal." The Carter who supported the right-to-work law in Georgia has since given his word to Big Labor's George Meany that he would sign a national bill repealing the right of individual states to ban compulsory unionism. Anyone can change his mind, but Mr. St. John finds it an offense in both morals and manners when a man won't admit openly that he has done so. He finds Carter's equivocal remarks on right-to-work typical of the man.

Somewhere in his career, says Mr. St. John, Jimmy Carter became a "Northern liberal" using a Southern accent. He embraced the Labor Coalition dominated by Leonard Woodcock of the United Automobile Workers to clear his way to the Democratic nomination. He picked Fritz Mondale, a disciple of the big-spending Hubert Humphrey, for his vice presidential running mate in spite of the warning of Governor Edwin Edwards of Louisiana that this would be an "insult to the South." He talks a good anti-bureaucratic line, but in "reforming" the government he left the state of Georgia with a bigger bureaucracy than it had had before he became governor. He would presumably repeat the Georgia pattern in Washington.

Mr. St. John's ultimate damnation is that Carter is "leading a coalition of power brokers in a New Reconstruction effort founded on a theory of social democracy not in the history, culture and tradition of the South." What we will get from a President Carter, says St. John, is "bread and bureaucracy" instead of the right to "live fully, spiritually and with purpose as individuals."

Revamping urged of prison system

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A prison study workshop has called for revamping of the state's prison system, and for a moratorium on prison construction coupled with reductions in the inmate population.

The study concluded that "Citizen neglect" is responsible for a state penal system that violates rights and does not reduce crime.

The workshop session, which ended Saturday, was organized by the Ohio Council of Churches and co-sponsored by seven other state organizations.

The Rev. Norman Prichard and Christopher Conybeare, cochairmen of the three-day Prison Crisis Conference said the group confirmed earlier findings that the prison system violates constitutional and human rights and that it is ineffective in reducing crime.

"The basic problem (with the state's prisons) has been citizen neglect," Conybeare said. "The general community is ignorant of what goes on in prisons and how ineffectively their money is being spent."

The Rev. Mr. Prichard said the public will have to be educated about the prison system.

Additional recommendations include investigations of recent protests at the prison reception center, at the former Ohio Penitentiary, joining a national coalition for abolition of capital punishment and changing the parole process. The conference also supported establishment of a prison oversight committee, a review committee to examine sentencing policies and efforts to bring about improved medical care.

Conybeare said specific recommendations to set in motion those outlined by the conference will be made by the end of the month.

The church council was criticized earlier by the Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction officials for interfering in the operation of the prisons.

"We feel perhaps we were condemned before we started," Conybeare said Saturday. "I think that was unfair."

He said corrections officials ignored invitations to participate in the conference.

The Treaty of Ft. Stanwix in the Mohawk Valley in New York in 1768 fixed the boundaries of Indian lands in Ohio. About 3,400 Indian warriors assembled for the conference. From the eastern end of Lake Ontario the line ran south to the Delaware River then west to the Allegheny River, down the Allegheny and to the Ohio and hence to the Tennessee. The Indians ceded all lands east and south of that line for goods and silver worth more than 20,000 English pounds. — AP

Sister needs help more than he needs quiet

DEAR ABBY: May I respond to ANXIOUS SON whose problem was his sister who phones him at all hours of the night when she's "loaded"? Because this sister lives in the same city with their elderly and ailing mother, ANXIOUS SON cannot take his phone off the hook in case the call is from or about their mother.

In our city (Columbus, Ohio) and in many other cities across the country, there are treatment centers in general hospitals where an alcoholic can be admitted for treatment just as he (or she) would be if diabetes or any other disease were present. Because alcoholism is a disease, it is progressive and can become terminal. Until the public understands these facts, and reacts to them as it would to any other disease, the cure cannot be affected, and many fine people will die unnecessarily.

Please tell ANXIOUS SON to contact his mental health association or some related agency to find out where his sister can receive the treatment she needs before too much brain damage results from her drinking.

Finally, Alcoholics Anonymous (and Al-Anon and Alateen) have made the difference between me and death to many alcoholic and their families.

MRS. L.R.B.: COLUMBUS, OHIO
DEAR MRS. B.: I agree, ANXIOUS SON should make an all-out effort to help his drinking sister instead of seeking ways to escape her disturbing phone calls. (Those calls may well be an unconscious cry for help.) However, unless the sister calls A.A., they can't help her. A.A. doesn't go out to rescue alcoholics, the alcoholics must come to THEM.

DEAR ABBY: Whatever happened to your sense of humor and fair play? Regarding the middle-aged woman working in an office with 10 men who, much to his dismay, used the lavatory marked "WOMEN":

If she wants privacy, all she has to do upon entering the lavatory is to hang a cardboard sign marked "NOT NOW!" outside the door.

The men would surely respect her wishes as well as her ingenuity.

M.N.
DEAR M.N.: Clever idea. And practical, too—unless some clown crosses out the "NOT."

DEAR HOTEL GUEST: I am not working here because I want to earn money; I just enjoy emptying wastebaskets full of peanut shells and stale beer. "Black Lung" is a small risk to take in exchange for the pleasure of dumping ashtrays all day long. But the best part is the invigorating exercise to turn hands sandpapered even through rubber gloves. My fondest memories will always be the thrill of pursuing those elusive little hairs all over the bathtubs.

So, you see, that tip really wasn't necessary. Please accept my deepest thanks for your generosity. The penny you left will go towards furthering my college education.

BALLOT LANGUAGE, EXPLANATIONS, ARGUMENTS, AND
RESOLUTIONS FOR AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO
CONSTITUTION PROPOSED BY THE GENERAL
ASSEMBLY TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTERS AT
THE GENERAL ELECTION, NOVEMBER 2, 1976

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION

- 1 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
- To repeal Sections 15 and 17 of Article III, and to adopt new Sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III, Ohio Constitution
1. TO PROVIDE FOR AND CLARIFY SUCCESSION TO THE GOVERNORSHIP WHEN THE GOVERNOR CAN NO LONGER SERVE.
 2. TO PROVIDE THAT THE OHIO SUPREME COURT, UPON RESOLUTION OF TWO-THIRDS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, HAS COMPLETE JURISDICTION TO DETERMINE DISABILITY OF THE GOVERNOR OR GOVERNOR-ELECT.
 3. TO PROVIDE FOR THE ELECTION OF THE GOVERNOR AND LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR WHEN BOTH OFFICES ARE VACATED DURING THE FIRST TWENTY MONTHS OF THE TERM, AND
 4. TO PROVIDE FOR SUCCESSION WHEN THE GOVERNOR-ELECT IS UNABLE TO TAKE THE OFFICE.
- (Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 1

The proposed amendment retains the present line of succession to the office of Governor. That line of succession goes first to the Lieutenant Governor, then to the President of the Senate, and then to the Speaker of the House. Succession can result from either vacancy or disability in the office of Governor. To provide a procedure for raising the question of disability and to avoid having the question frivolously raised, the amendment proposes that the Ohio Supreme Court take original and final jurisdiction of the matter. Upon receiving a resolution passed by two-thirds of the members of each house of the General Assembly to the effect that the Governor or Governor-elect is unable to discharge the duties of his office by reason of disability, the court must determine the question of disability within twenty-one days.

If there is a vacancy in the offices of both Governor and Lieutenant Governor and if the vacancies occur prior to the expiration of the first twenty months of the term, the proposed amendment would require the election for the unexpired term of a Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the next even-numbered year general election. This special election is provided in order to prevent having the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor held for more than half the term by persons not elected on a statewide basis.

If the Governor-elect is unable to assume the office at the commencement of his term for reasons other than disability, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall assume the office of Governor for the full term. If the Governor-elect fails to assume the office because of disability, the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall serve as Governor until the disability of the Governor terminates.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This proposal fills in gaps in the present constitutional provisions relating to the succession to the governorship. Ohio has been fortunate in its history in not having had a chief executive who has been physically or mentally incapacitated while in office or between the time of the election and the beginning of the term, but this has occurred in other states. This proposal provides a procedure for determining whether such disability exists by the highest judicial body in the state, and requires that the determination be made promptly upon the presentation of a resolution adopted by 2/3 of the General Assembly. The necessity of obtaining 2/3 of the members of the General Assembly prevents such action being taken frivolously or for purely political purposes. The adoption of this proposal will eliminate uncertainties and enable a smooth transition in the gubernatorial office if the unfortunate circumstance of gubernatorial disability should occur, and Ohio will be able to avoid problems that have created serious difficulties in other states because there was no prescribed procedure for determining disability. Other parts of this proposal will clarify other aspects of the transition from one chief executive to another during the term, by providing that a person who becomes governor or serves as governor when the office of governor becomes vacant for any reason does not receive dual compensation and no longer serves in the former capacity, whether as Lt. Governor, President of the Senate, or Speaker of the House. The proposal fills another gap in the Constitution by providing for an election of a Governor and Lt. Governor if both offices become vacant during the first 20 months of the term. The election would take place at the general state election that falls in the midpoint of the term. The voters will thus have the opportunity to express their wishes rather than permitting someone who was not elected by all the voters of the state to serve as governor for more than half of a term.

Committee For the Amendment: Gene Slagle, Tony P. Hall, Stanley J. Aronoff, John E. Johnson, Marcus A. Roberto, Michael G. Oxley.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

It has been a long-standing practice of this Republic to consider the leader of the house which serves the shortest term to have priority in the succession issue. Federal law reflects this deep-rooted principle; to wit, that the Speaker of the House of Representatives precedes the President Pro Tempore of the Senate in the line of succession to the Presidency.

The same philosophy should hold true with the succession to the Ohio Governor. Because Paragraph C of Article 3 would place the President Pro-Tempore of the Senate before the Speaker of the House in succession to the Governor, we do not favor adoption of this resolution.

It could also be argued that Paragraph C of Section 16 gives the Ohio Supreme Court too much power in determining the disability of the Governor. Since 1803, the courts have assumed powers and authorities that were never given to them in the Constitution. This slow accumulation of power has been to the detriment of the Legislative branch, which has law-making responsibilities. The Ohio General Assembly, because of its closeness to the people, should be the branch of government that has final jurisdiction in determining the disability of the Governor.

Committee Against the Amendment: Irma L. Karmol, John P. Wargo. My first opposition is directed toward Paragraph C of Article 3 of the resolution. Since Representatives Wargo and Karmol have discussed this reason in some detail, I will not elaborate my arguments at this time, except to suggest that I, likewise, am strongly opposed to having the President Pro Tempore of the Senate precede the Speaker of the House in the line of succession.

The most invidious aspect of the resolution is found in Section 16, which allows a second branch of government; to wit, the Supreme Court, to have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction in determining the disability of the Governor, a separate branch of this tri-partite government. If any of the branches have the right to determine the disability of any other branch, then that authority should rest in the hands of the Legislature, the most frequently elected branch of our government.

Since 1803, the courts have assumed powers and authorities not delegated to them in the federal Constitution. To grant the Supreme Court of the State of Ohio the original, exclusive and final jurisdiction over determining the disability of the Governor is a step backward in representative government.

It has been long-standing that that government which is closest to the people is that branch of government that is elected to the shortest term. It is the House of Representatives which is elected for the shortest term and thereby, best reflects the opinions of the people.

If any branch of government is to have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction in the area of determining the disability of the Governor, then it should be at least the House of Representatives and probably the General Assembly itself.

The entirety of Section 16 involves a very, very fine constitutional question of the separation of powers which was so delicately worked out in the federal Constitution.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION

- 2 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
- To repeal Sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution TO ELIMINATE FROM THE CONSTITUTION OBSOLETE AND UNNECESSARY PROVISIONS REGARDING STATE PRINTING, STATIONERY, AND SUPPLIES; DUELISTS HOLDING PUBLIC OFFICE; AND A BUREAU OF STATISTICS IN THE SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE.
- (Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 2

Section 2 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution, requires state printing to be let on contract to the lowest responsible bidder or to be done directly by the state. Public printing is now governed by adequate provisions in statutory law and the Constitutional provisions serve no purpose.

Section 5 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution, prohibits persons who fight or assist in the fighting of a duel from holding any public office in Ohio. The legislature has the power to regulate eligibility to office by adopting laws and this provision in the Constitution is, therefore, unnecessary and obsolete.

Section 8 of Article XV, Ohio Constitution, establishes a Bureau of Statistics in the Secretary of State's office. Specific detail in the Constitution establishing such a bureau in the Secretary of State's office is unnecessary since the legislature can and has accomplished the same thing by statute. The Constitution, if not amended in this respect, also might be interpreted as a restriction on legislative authority to create such duties in other state agencies.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This proposal removes three sections from the Ohio Constitution that are no longer necessary. It thus helps to achieve the desirable goal of a more understandable Constitution, free from provisions that properly belong in the laws. In this case the three provisions are adequately covered in the laws. The first, relating to public printing, stationery, and supplies, was written into the Constitution at a time when public printing constituted a major public expenditure; today, it is a much smaller part of the total expenses of governmental operation. Competitive bidding is required for state printing contracts by law and is also required for many other types of contracts for state and local purchases and services. The statutes are thus far more comprehensive than the Constitution in this respect, and matters such as these should be regulated by law. The section prohibiting duelists from holding public office falls in the same category. The legislature has authority to regulate the holding of public office by persons who have been convicted of felonies, and there are statutes that do so regulate. Moreover, dueling is no longer practiced, and a reference to it in the Constitution locks in the basic document an outmoded term. Therefore, the section has no practical application today. The legislature can alter statutes from time to time to meet changing conditions, and that is what has happened in this instance. The third section, providing for a bureau of statistics in the office of the Secretary of State, is clearly statutory in nature. Statistics are gathered by many agencies relating to many subjects in today's government, and such matters should be regulated by law as needs and conditions change.

ARGUMENT AGAINST THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Some of the language removed by this proposal is obsolete, however, there is some language we need to retain. Dueling provisions are obsolete and authority for a bureau of statistics is not needed in the Constitution but provisions governing competitive bidding are of constitutional importance.

H.J.R. 36 removes a constitutional requirement that all public printing be let by competitive bidding. The argument is used that printing is only a small part of the budget and that statutory law now requires competitive bidding. Public printing is a small part of a $12 billion biennial budget, however, printing costs exceed $9 million annually and this is not a trifling amount. Public printing and money is important . . . too important to be left to statutory law which can be changed at the whim of legislators. Competitive bidding is of constitutional importance and we need to retain it in our Constitution to safeguard the public's tax dollar.

Committee Against the Amendment: Thomas A. Van Meter.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION

- 3 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
- To amend Section 3 of Article III and to repeal Section 4 of Article III, Ohio Constitution
- TO REQUIRE THE DECLARATION OF ELECTION RESULTS FOR STATE EXECUTIVE OFFICERS AT THE NEXT REGULAR SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, THEREBY PREVENTING THE POSSIBILITY OF A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE OUTGOING GENERAL ASSEMBLY BEING CALLED FOR THAT PURPOSE, AND TO REMOVE OBSOLETE LANGUAGE FROM THE CONSTITUTION.
- (Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 3

The proposed amendment modifies the Constitution concerning the time when the election results would be presented to the General Assembly. By specifying that the presentation be made at the next regular session, it is intended to preclude the possibility of a special session being called to decide a tie vote in an election in the office of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, or Attorney General. This change eliminates the possibility that the General Assembly which is in session at the time when the election is held could decide the results of that election in the event of a tie vote for any of the above offices. Instead, the decision is deferred until the next regular session of the General Assembly to prevent "lame duck" legislators from voting on the tie. The amendment also repeals Section 4 of Article III of the Ohio Constitution, which provides for declaration of results of an election for statewide offices in a year in which there is no session of the General Assembly in January after the election. This section is now obsolete since the General Assembly is required to be in session each January.

ARGUMENT FOR THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

The present constitutional provisions requiring that the results of the election for the six elected state executive officials—Governor, Lt. Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, and Attorney General—be returned to the General Assembly and declared in the presence of the members of both houses has been part of the Ohio Constitution since the days when it took weeks for election results to be counted and transported to the seat of government. The Constitution writers believed that it was important to have the results announced publicly and before the General Assembly, which would then be in a position to break a tie immediately if there should be a tie vote for any of these six officials. Today, however, it might be possible for the results of the November election to be transmitted to a General Assembly already in session or to a special session called for that purpose, if a tie vote resulted at the election. A General Assembly breaking the tie under those circumstances would be about to go out of office, and thus might no longer best represent the will of the people as expressed at the election. The proposal, therefore, requires that the election results be declared at the beginning of the next regular session of the General Assembly, which will occur when the newly-elected General Assembly assumes its duties in January following the election. This is clearly in accord with the original intention of the Constitution, and will help to prevent the type of political maneuvering that brings discredit on governmental officials.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — It won't double your pleasure or double your fun, but there'll be two systems, not one, to make sure tonight's presidential debate doesn't emit the sound of silence again.

CBS is running the radio-TV "pool" at San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts, where President Ford and Jimmy Carter meet tonight at 9:30 p.m. EDT for the second of three nationally televised debates.

And CBS says it'll have a separate backup system to the one electronically feeding sights and sounds of the debate to all three networks and the Public Broadcasting Service.

The hope is that this will avoid a recurrence of the embarrassing 27-minute audio failure that came near the end of the first debate Sept. 23 in Philadelphia, when Carter was speaking.

"We'll be as redundant (in broadcast signal-providing equipment) as practically possible," says David White, the CBS engineering executive whose troops are manning tonight's radio-TV pool operation.

ABC, which ran the pool on Sept. 23, blames a tiny gizmo, worth about $1 and called an electrolytic capacitor, for the audio failure that left the debaters speechless and viewers restless.

The network said the incapacitated capacitor previously had a solid performance record, and both it and the amplifier it served were considered so reliable no backup system was thought necessary.

Sound finally was restored with the help of CBS and the telephone company in New York, 90 miles from Philadelphia.

"What happened was very unfortunate from the broadcast industry's point of view," CBS' White said of the 27-minute silence. "It was a piece of material failure and nobody wishes that kind of accident on any body."

ISSUE 1 (Amended House Joint Resolution No. 37)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to repeal sections 15 and 17 of Article III and to enact new sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for and clarify succession to the governorship when the governor can no longer serve, to provide a method for determining when gubernatorial disability exists, and to provide for election of governor and lieutenant governor when both offices are vacant prior to the middle of the term, and to provide for succession when the governor-elect is unable to take office.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1976, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III thereof, and by enacting new sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III thereof.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL. If adopted by a majority of the electors voting thereon, this amendment shall take immediate effect, and existing sections 15, 16, and 17 of Article III shall be repealed from such effective date.

ISSUE 2 (Amended House Joint Resolution No. 36)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to repeal sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to eliminate from the Constitution obsolete provisions regarding state printing, stationery, and supplies; duelists holding public office; and a bureau of statistics in the Secretary of State's office.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1976, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV thereof.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL. If adopted by a majority of the electors voting thereon, this amendment shall take immediate effect, and existing sections 2, 5, and 8 of Article XV shall be repealed from such effective date.

ISSUE 3 (Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 17)

JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing to amend section 3 of Article III and to repeal section 4 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Ohio relating to the declaration of election results, to remove obsolete language, and to require such declaration at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1976, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing section 3 of Article III and enacting new section 3 of Article III as follows:

ARTICLE III
Section 3. (A) In the case of every election for the offices named in the foregoing section, the results of the election shall be transmitted to the returning officers, directed to the President of the Senate, who, during the first week of January, shall make the results public and shall open and publish them, and shall make the results public in the presence of a majority of the members of each House of the General Assembly. The joint candidates having the highest number of votes cast for governor and lieutenant governor and the person having the highest number of votes for any other office shall be declared duly elected; but if any two or more have an equal number of votes, or if two or more have the same number of votes for the same office or offices, one of them or any two for whom joint votes were cast for governor and lieutenant governor shall be chosen by joint vote of both houses.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL. If adopted by a majority of the electors voting thereon, this amendment shall take immediate effect and existing section 3 and section 4 of Article III shall be repealed from such effective date.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA STATE OF OHIO OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

I, TED W. BROWN, Secretary of State, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of Amended House Joint Resolution No. 37, Amended House Joint Resolution No. 36, and Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 17, proposing to amend the Constitution of Ohio, together with the ballot language to be printed on each certified to me by the Ohio Ballot Board.

Engagement announced

MISS SUZANNE C. ELLIOTT

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Elliott of Rt. 2, Bainbridge, are announcing the engagement of their oldest daughter, Suzanne Christina Marie, to Denny L. Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Riley, Rt. 5, Washington C.H.

The bride-elect is a 1976 graduate of Western High School, Latham. She will be entering Ohio State University's School of Nursing for the 1976 winter quarter.

Her fiancé was a student at Miami Trace High School, and is presently employed at Fair Chance Horse Farm.

The couple has planned a spring wedding, but a definite date has not been set.

Jaycee Wives hold meeting

The Jeffersonville Jaycee Wives met in the home of Mrs. Ernie Wilson, when the Jaycee Creed was repeated by the six members present. They were Mrs. Bennie Allen, Mrs. Johnnie Bobbitt, Mrs. Robert Coe, Mrs. Robert Steele, Mrs. Larry Hunt and Mrs. Wilson.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Steele and plans were made for a bake sale to be held Nov. 20. The group also donated $60 to the pediatric ward at Fayette Memorial Hospital, and planned a skating party for Jan. 19, 1977.

Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Steele will be assisting hostesses for Oct. 19th meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Gamma chapter, Phi Beta Psi has projects

The October meeting of Phi Beta Psi, Gamma Chapter was held in the home of Mrs. Jim Ward Monday evening. The members have formed their craft groups in order to begin preparing items for the Sorority's Annual Antique Show Country Crafts for Cancer Booth to be held March 4, 5, 6.

The Sorority's National Cancer Project will be the recipient of the profits made by selling Christmas cards originally designed by a local chapter member. A packet of ten cards will sell for $2.00 and are available from any member. The pledges are also selling house plants.

Following the meeting, members packaged the Christmas cards for distribution. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Howard Wright and Mrs. Alfred Hagler Jr.

PERSONALS

Ray M. Foster of Cincinnati, formerly of Washington C.H., has returned home from a trip to Atlanta, Ga., and East Point, Ga., where he attended a birthday picnic for Mrs. John (Wanda) Nelligan, who was 78 years old. The picnic was at historic Stone Mountain Park. Mr. Foster was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nelligan, former residents of Washington C.H., before his return by plane to Cincinnati to attend the University of Cincinnati's Raymond Walters College.

Nancy Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Benso, 1530 St. Rt. 41-SE, was one of seven girls honored for having a 3.50 average or better for the past two years in nurse's training. Nancy is a senior at the Mount Carmel Hospital School of Nursing, 127 S. Davis St., Columbus. She was presented a third year chevron, a pin and flowers at the ceremony held on Friday.

Phi Beta Psi, associate chapter 1 plays bridge

Phi Beta Psi, associate chapter 1 met in the home of Mrs. Edward Vollette, with Mrs. Harford Hankins, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Miss Kathleen Davis and Mrs. Ira Barchet assisting. A dessert course was served preceding the playing of bridge and the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Barchet.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Earl Gidding, first; Mrs. Emerson Marting and Mrs. Forest Ellis.

RECEIVES GRANT — Miss Kathleen Susan Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher of 149 Carolyn Rd., recently graduated from the Riverside School of Radiology at Riverside Methodist Hospital, Columbus. The school was affiliated with Otterbein College in Westerville. Miss Fisher is one of two of the graduating students who has received a one-year grant to Riverside Hospital in the study of Nuclear Medicine.

Choral Society to participate in charity bazaar

The Fayette County Choral Society and friends will take part in the "charity bazaar" next Saturday, Oct. 9th at Murphy Mart, 300 Washington Square. Participants are asked to donate home baked goods and miscellaneous items of unused merchandise. These may be delivered from 8 p.m. on. The sale begins at 9:30 a.m.

Daniel D. Emmett, 1815-1904, born in Mount Vernon, Ohio, author of the famed song "Dixie," at the age of 16 wrote "Old Dan Tucker," a popular song throughout America for many years. A minstrel man, his last performance was at Ironton in 1896.

MR. and MRS. MICHAEL A. PRESTON

Sugar Grove Methodist Church setting for recent marriage

Miss Shirley Marie Wright became the bride of Michael A. Preston in Sugar Grove United Methodist Church. The Rev. Conrad Bower performed the double-ring ceremony Sept. 3 at 7:30 p.m. for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wright Sr. of Washington C.H. and the son of Mrs. Lorene Leisure and the late William Preston.

Baskets of pink carnations and lavender asters decorated the altar. Candelabra with pink and lavender bows completed the setting.

David Puckett, vocalist, sang "If," "The Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Elaine Stookey, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of Quiana with a long flowing train of Venetian lace with cap sleeves edged in the same lace with a high rounded neckline. Her elbow-length veil was of Venetian lace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, baby's breath, lavender asters and pink roses.

Miss Emily Orthmeyer of Portsmouth, maid of honor, wore a lavender crepe gown with floral collar of chiffon, and a lavender hat with matching ribbon. She carried two pink carnations.

The bridesmaids, Cindy Wright and Annette Penrod, sisters of the bride, and Jacque Preston, sister of the groom, wore pink crepe empire styled gowns with chiffon floral collars, and matching hats. Each carried a single lavender carnation.

Guy Naylor served the duties as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Scott Crissinger, Steve Campbell and Lee Wright, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Wright chose for her daughter's wedding a floor length pink floral gown with A-line matching jacket. The groom's mother wore a floor length belted gown of designed print in pink and gray.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church basement were Mrs. Mary Jo Thornton, Mrs. John Rich and Mrs. Harriett Moore. Miss Claudia Self was in charge of the guest book, Christy Wright the rice packets, and Chuck Wright was the acolyte.

Following a wedding trip to Burr Oak, the couple is residing at 611 Perdue Plaza.

The bride a 1972 graduate from Washington Senior High School, is employed by the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H. Her husband, a 1970 Miami Trace High School graduate, attended Ohio University, Athens, and is an employe of Cor-Tec.

FAMILY DINNER
Easy Beet Soup
Meat Patties Potatoes
Parsley Cauliflower
Apples Beverage
EASY BEET SOUP
Quick version of Russian borsch.

2 cups lightly packed grated (medium-fine) pared beets
1 cup very finely shredded cabbage, not packed at all
1-3rd cup chopped onion
¼ cup lemon juice
Two 10½-ounce cans condensed beef broth (bouillon) diluted with 2 soup cans water
Beef bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
Commercial sour cream
In a large saucepot over low heat, tightly covered, cook the beets, cabbage, onion and lemon juice until vegetables are tender; if necessary, add a couple of tablespoons of water during cooking. Add all the beef bouillon, sugar, salt and pepper; simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Top each serving with a spoonful of sour cream. Makes about 1½ quarts — 6 servings.

Cooked this way, chicken thighs are juicy.
4 broiler-fryer chicken thighs
Wrap thighs in one layer of heavyweight foil; bring top edges of foil together and make drugstore fold; fold over ends a few times to make a leakproof package. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 500-degree oven until cooked through — 30 minutes. Open package and lift out chicken; for lowest-calorie servings, remove skin. (Pour the small amount of broth in package into a small jar; cover and chill; remove hardened fat at top before adding broth to a sauce or soup.)

Eastside Cubs to meet Thursday

Eastside Cub Pack 20 will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 7, in the Eastside gymnasium, to discuss plans for the Camporal to be held at Scioto Downs this coming Saturday.

Each Cub must be accompanied by at least one parent.

Beverage
RED CABBAGE SEVILLE
A favorite version of a hearty dish.
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
Medium head (about 2 pounds) red cabbage, shredded (6 cups packed down)
Medium onion, cut in thin strips
2 large green apples (pared, cored and thickly sliced)
½ cup orange marmalade
¾ teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup cider vinegar
¼ cup water
In a large saucepot melt the butter; add all the remaining ingredients and mix well. Bring to a boil; cover tightly and simmer, stirring occasionally, until cabbage is very tender and there is very little liquid in pan — about 2 hours. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Foot Exercises

Foot gymnastics can keep feet in top condition. You can increase circulation and strengthen immobile toes by riffling the pages of a telephone book with the toes.

Pick up a marble with your bare toes and walk around on the outside of your feet, holding onto the marble as long as possible.

Walk on your heels with your toes pointed inward for two or three minutes, twice a day.

Any kind of grasping or pushing with the toes or wiggling them, even inside your shoes, is good exercise and will strengthen both foot and leg muscles.

Just remember, parts of the body that are not used — exercised — become weak. Only by vigorous use will muscles remain healthy and shapely.

Governor faces need for new job

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Gov. Dan Evans is worried about two things when he leaves office in January after 12 years in the governor's mansion — getting a job and buying a house.

"I have to go to work right away to support my family," said the nation's senior Republican governor. "There will be no sabbatical for us."

Evans, 51, has not owned a house since shortly after being elected in 1964 to the first of an unprecedented three consecutive terms.

"It's going to be frightening to go out and buy a house of our own," he admits. "Other people have been building up an inflation-created equity in their homes for years, and they can turn that in on any new home they buy."

"The home we sold in Seattle sold recently for two and a half times what we sold it for."

Evans was a 39-year-old engineer with a wife and two sons, Danny, 3, and Mark, 1, when he sold his Seattle home and moved into the governor's mansion. Danny is now 15, Mark is 13 and there is a third son, Bruce, 10, who was born while Evans was governor.

Evans said recently he expects to wind up in an administrative job, possibly at a college or university. But there's just one catch for prospective employers.

"I don't want to leave the state. I've had some good offers, but I've had to tell the companies I would accept them only after they moved their corporate headquarters to the state of Washington," he said.

As for credentials, Evans said, "I've got the benefit of spending 12 years running a state, a $3-billion corporation."

His salary was $32,500 a year until 13 months ago, when it rose to $44,000. Despite reimbursements for travel and an allowance for keeping up the mansion, Evans says "a governor seldom breaks even."

Chinese expect U.S.-Russian war

NEW YORK (AP) — Chinese Premier Hua Kuo-feng is said to have told former U.S. Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger that war between the United States and the Soviet Union is inevitable. Time Magazine also says in this week's issue that Schlesinger, a critic of détente, disagreed with Hua.

Schlesinger recently completed a three-week tour of China.

The magazine says the Chinese also expect a "people's war" that would pit millions of Chinese guerrillas against Soviet armor.

Time says Chinese leaders took pains to express to Schlesinger their scorn of U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Peanut butter part of contract

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A man who plays surrogate "morn" to music stars says a $70,000 box office gross could be lost for want of chunky peanut butter.

According to City Auditorium Manager Charlie Mancuso, elaborate contract riders detailing certain requirements are signed before scheduled concerts. He said that John Denver, for example, needs a rug and comfy chair to get into a mellow mood.

Reds out to steal NL pennant

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who literally "stole" the National League pennant last year, may be planning to do it again with their best crop of roadrunners since 1914.

The defending world champions, baseball's winningest club in 1976, open the best-of-5 game league championship series Saturday at Philadelphia, where the club cut down only 35 baserunners in 100 attempts.

"They know we are going to run," said Ken Griffey, who blossomed as the Reds' biggest surprise on the basepaths. "Our speed is going to play a very big part."

Philadelphia catchers Bob Boone and Tim McCarver stopped the Reds only four times in 18 tries this season.

A year ago, the Reds swept Pittsburgh in three straight, propelled by "The Great Ripoff at Riverfront Stadium" when they rewrote the record books. Cincinnati, after stealing only seven bases in 12 games during the season against the Pirates, stole 10 of 10 in the first two games for 8-3 and 6-1 victories.

The Reds led the league this season with 210 steals in 266 attempts, or eight successful thefts in every 10 tries. The season high was nine against Los Angeles, in a losing cause.

"We're going to steal and force their pitchers to make mistakes. A pitcher has come with more fastballs when he knows the guy at first is going to try to steal," said Griffey, who had a career-high 33 thefts in 44 attempts. His previous season-high was 16, set last year.

Joe Morgan and Griffey, who key the Cincinnati running game, stole 93 times in 113 tries as the Reds improved on last year's total by 42.

Morgan, the versatile 5-foot-7 second baseman, had 60 steals in 69 attempts as the Reds surpassed the 200-theft plateau for the first since 1914.

Cincinnati closed out another record-setting season

UNLEASH THE RABBITS — Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson (left) may release his base-stealing rabbits led by Joe Morgan (right) against Philadelphia in the National League playoffs.

Sunday with club marks in runs, 857; hits, 1599; and runs batted in, 802.

The Phils won the season series seven games to five, winning seven of the first nine games. But the Reds swept the last three to trigger Philadelphia's near-fatal swoon of 24 defeats in their next 28 games.

The Reds opened workouts today with right-hander Jack Billingham still a question mark in the three-man playoff rotation. He strained a bicep in his throwing arm in Sunday's finale against Atlanta, pitching only one inning.

Georgia climbs in grid poll

by HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Georgia Bulldogs supplanted UCLA as the No. 4 team in The Associated Press college football ratings today, moving up to challenge

Michigan, Pitt and Oklahoma, the 1-2-3 clubs for the second week in a row.

Georgia's impressive 21-0 triumph over Alabama booted the losers out of the Top Twenty for the first time since 1970 and shot the Bulldogs from sixth to fourth.

Besides Alabama, Penn State's perennial Eastern champs also were missing from the rankings for the first time since mid-1970 when they were beaten by Kentucky 22-6 for their third consecutive setback. However, the Nittany Lions were back in the rankings by the end of the 1970 season. Alabama was not.

Michigan held down the No. 1 position for the fourth week in a row with a 31-0 triumph over Wake Forest. The Wolverines received 52 first-place votes and 1,182 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters.

Runner-up Pitt, a 44-31 winner over Duke after piling up a 37-7 lead, received three first-place ballots and 992 points. Last week, Michigan led the Panthers 1,208-972 with 61 panelists voting.

Oklahoma retained third place with three No. 1 votes and 914 points after downing Iowa State 24-10. Then came Georgia with the other two top votes — the first of the season for the Bulldogs — and 870 points.

UCLA slipped from fourth to fifth and Ohio State went from eighth to 10th after the Rose Bowl rivals played to a 10-10 standoff.

Georgia's rise also dropped Nebraska from fifth to sixth. The Cornhuskers had to rally to defeat Miami, Fla., 17-9.

Maryland stayed in seventh place by beating Villanova 20-9 while Kansas climbed from ninth to eighth with a 34-24 victory over Wisconsin.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Missouri, a 24-3 winner over North Carolina, and Ohio State. Missouri was 12th a week ago.

The Second Ten consists of Southern Cal, Florida, Boston College, Notre Dame, Texas Tech, Texas, Texas A&M, Arkansas, North Carolina and Louisiana State.

Last week, it was LSU, Missouri, Southern Cal, North Carolina, Boston College, Mississippi, Texas Tech, Notre Dame, Florida and Penn State. Ole Miss fell out following a 10-0 loss to Auburn.

Texas returned to the rankings after a two-week absence while Texas A&M and Arkansas got back in after one-week vacations. Texas trounced Rice 42-15 while A&M downed Illinois 14-7 and Arkansas trimmed Texas Christian 46-14.

State's bow season for Deer set Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio hunters can expect to go after an increased herd Friday when the state's bow season opens.

Ohio Division of Wildlife officials report the state's whitetail deer population is now an estimated 90,000. That's 10,000 more than a year ago and represents the largest recorded herd.

Officials contend the increase can be traced to the zone system for managing the herd in different parts of the state.

Miami Trace moves up

AP Prep poll leaders retain top positions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Moeller, Ironton and Newark Catholic all maintained their leads today, with the latter two facing new challenges in The Associated Press' Ohio high school weekly football ratings.

Moeller, the defending big school playoff champion, was the most impressive leader for the second straight week, piling up a 286-200 point advantage over No. 2 Findlay. Third-place Gahanna was one point behind Findlay.

Ironton's 193 points pace the Class AA poll of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters with Cincinnati Wyoming emerging as a new threat in second place with 163 points.

Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary, once beaten and second a week ago, dropped to the third spot with 151 points, swapping spots with Wyoming, the middle school playoff runnerup last fall.

Sandusky St. Mary's, taking advantage of runnerup Carey's loss to Marion Pleasant last week, moved from third to second in the class A points. St. Mary's had 172 points to Newark Catholic's leading total of 208.

The first two teams in all three divisions are unbeaten and untied in four games this season.

Alliance, off to its best start of 4-0-0 since 1954, surged from 11th to seventh behind fourth-ranked Zanesville, No. 5 Youngstown Mooney and No. 6 Cincinnati Princeton in Class AAA.

Niles, defeated by Massillon 13-8, slipped two notches to eighth while No. 9 Steubenville and No. 10 Lorain Senior made their first appearances of the season in the Top Ten.

In Class AA, Huron held onto No. 4. St. Marys to fifth. New Lexington, a former poll champion, vaulted from 10th to sixth. Columbus Watterson and Brookville shared seventh. Shelby kept ninth and Orrville moved up to the 10th position.

Elyria Catholic, eighth last week, and Uhrichville Claymont, tied for 10th, suffered defeats.

Robinson among 2nd division managers with new contracts

By The Associated Press
The odds of a second-division major league baseball manager being rehired often are less than even money.
But Frank Robinson, Norm Sherry and John McNamara, whose teams wound up in the second half of their division races during the 1976 season, defied the odds Monday and signed 1977 contracts.
Robinson, the only black manager in major league history, signed a one-year contract for a reported $80,000 plus incentive bonuses with Cleveland after directing the Indians to an 81-79 season and fourth place in the six-team American League East.
Sherry, named California's interim manager July 3 when the Angels were in last place in the AL West, also signed a one-year contract, at an undisclosed salary, after lifting the team into a tie for fourth place, its best finish since 1973.
And McNamara was given a one-year contract with San Diego despite the Padres' fifth-place finish in the National League West in his third year as manager.

Reggie Jackson heads 26 players of fortune

Great free agent gamble under way

NEW YORK (AP) — How many players will win the free agency gamble and how well will it pay off?
There are 26 players who did not sign their 1976 baseball contracts. Twenty-three became free agents at the end of the regular season Sunday. Three others will become free after the playoffs or World Series. Most of them are quality players coming off good 1976 seasons. So they stand to help themselves financially because they didn't sign 1976 contracts.
Players become free agents for two basic reasons. They want more money and security and think another team will offer it, or they want a chance to play regularly. Playing regularly, of course, also could lead to making more money.

But there are risks in not signing a contract. A player could have a bad season or he could get injured.

Reggie Jackson, for example, spurned a multi-year contract worth hundreds of thousands of dollars from the Baltimore Orioles, figuring the value for his services would be inflated by the open market once he became available to the highest bidder.

Jackson, however, won his gamble. His slugging statistics of 27 homers and 97 RBI are tops among the 19 hitters who will be eligible for the Nov. 4 free agent draft. Every major league team could use a 30-year-old power hitter.

Willie McCovey didn't win his gamble. He didn't sign a contract with the San Diego Padres and was traded late in the season to Oakland. With the A's, he seemed to have lost his once-famous bat speed and power. In 24 at bats, he had five hits — none for home runs. He didn't have an RBI. Who wants a 38-year-old former power hitter?

At the beginning of the season there

Middle Schoolers blank Wilmington

The Washington Middle School "B" football team upped its record to 3-0 on the season and extended its shutout string to 12 quarters with an 8-0 win over Wilmington at Gardner Park Monday.

Coach John Taylor said the victory was a team effort as his Blue Lion squad continued to play mistake free football. The Middle School team hasn't been hit with a penalty in two games.

Tony Wyatt picked up the touchdown from four yards out behind some excellent blocking.

Last week, the Blue Lions shutout Circleville 14-0.

Chiao victorious

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Chiao breezed to a wire-to-wire 11-length victory in the feature race at Latonia Monday night.

were some 60 unsigned players. More than half of those signed, motivated by an improved offer or perhaps by the knowledge they were having a bad season and wouldn't be worth that much on the open market.

That leaves 26 unsigned players, many of whom look like winners at free agent roulette. The top infielders available are Dave Cash, 28, who batted .283; Bobby Grich, 27, an All-Star second baseman who batted .266, and Sal Bando, 32, who had 27 homers and 84 RBI.

Top outfielders besides Jackson are Joe Rudi, 30, an excellent fielder who batted .270 with 13 homers and 94 RBI; Gary Matthews, 26, who hit .280 with 20 homers and 84 RBI, and Don Baylor, 27, who hit .245 with 15 homers and 68 RBI.

If a team is looking for a starting pitcher, Don Gullett and Wayne Garland are available. Gullett, 25, is 26-7 over the past two seasons, while Garland, 25, was 20-7 in 1976. Garland, in particular, inflated his value. He was 2-5 in 1975.

Need a strong relief pitcher? What about 30-year-old Rollie Fingers, 13-11 and a 2.41 earned run average? Or Bill Campbell, 17-5 and a 3.02 ERA? Campbell, 28, really hit the jackpot since his 4-6 record in 1975 would not have warranted a big contract in 1976.

Gene Tenace, 29, with 22 homers and 67 RBI, also stands to do well. He's the only catcher available.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

The importance of planning the play cannot be exaggerated. To be a competent declarer, one must not only organize a plan of action at the start, but also be prepared to amend that plan later on.

Very often, the most critical point of the play comes at trick one. That is the time when the defense launches its attack with the opening lead — which by itself is frequently crucial — and when declarer decides on his method of play.

If declarer reacts hastily at trick one, even when his play seems automatic, it is an indication that he has not been properly trained for his job. To play first and think later is putting the cart before the horse, and many a declarer lives to regret the speed of his first play.

Take this deal, where West led a diamond and declarer promptly followed low from dummy because he was getting a free finesse. He won East's ten with the jack and led a club to the ten, which held. When he played another club to the king, West took the ace.

Back came a diamond to dummy's ace, and South found himself locked in dummy with no way of reaching the closed hand to cash his three club tricks and the king of diamonds. East later scored three spades and two hearts to defeat the contract two tricks.

Had South given more thought to his first play, he would have rejected the gratuitous diamond finesse and gone up with the ace. After forcing out the ace of clubs, he would have scored at least nine tricks — consisting of one spade, two hearts, two diamonds and four clubs. It pays to plan the play.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Good Posture Means Good Health

I am amazed at the poor posture that so many of my students have in high school. They slump and crouch. I can't believe that this does not affect their health in adult life. — Miss D.W., Ore.

Dear Miss W.:
The posture of an adult reflects the posture that has been acquired or been taught as a child or an adolescent.

I am sure that the present vogue for slouching will eventually affect adult posture and general attractiveness.

The Department of Education of the American Medical Association has outlined an excellent set of rules for better posture. You can contribute immeasurably to your students if some of these suggestions are followed.

- While standing:
- 1) Keep feet slightly apart, weight balanced on both feet and toes straight ahead.
 - 2) Keep knees straight and relaxed.
 - 3) Hips tucked in, abdomen flat, chest slightly up and forward.
 - 4) Neck and head balanced over the body, chin in.

While walking:

- 1) Comfortable, well-fitted shoes.
- 2) Feet parallel and close together as you step, with toes straight ahead.
- 3) Control the length of the step for an even, rhythmic stride.
- 4) Swing arms loosely and easily.

While sitting:

- 1) Thighs should be supported by the chair as far as the curve of the knee.
- 2) Feet should be kept flat on the floor.
- 3) Back should be supported by the chair back, the body kept straight from the hips to the neck.

While working:

- 1) Stand erect and balanced.
- 2) Correct working heights to prevent slumping or excessive reaching.

Good posture can be acquired with proper direction and training.

Ohio makes 40 trade contracts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Development Director James A. Duerk said Monday a trade mission to four European countries resulted in contracts with 40 firms considering expansion in Ohio.

Four companies, including an auto parts manufacturer, will visit Columbus within the next month, according to Deputy Director A.L. Wallace, who led the two week mission which returned last weekend.

Duerk also announced ground-breaking Monday in Medina of a joint venture involving the Babcock Company and Turbo-Luftechnik of Germany, manufacturer of an axial flow fan. The company will eventually employ 100 workers, Duerk said.

On a separate matter, the development department jabbed at the Democratic-controlled Emergency Board which recently refused to release money for out-of-state development travel.

In a letter to the Appalachian Regional Commission, Paul E. Baldrige, an Ohio alternate member, said he would not be able to attend a Tuesday meeting in Charleston, W. Va. "Our state emergency board has failed to authorize an out-of-state travel for this department for this current quarter and therefore Ohio will not be represented," Baldrige wrote.

"Knowing that the meeting is extremely important to all 13 of our Appalachian states and our nation, I hope that the meeting will be well attended and that you will make some progress in the critical policy issue concerning the effective operation of the Appalachian Regional Commission..."

Remember those beautiful color photographic prints at the Fayette County Fair this year. Most of those were made by the CIBACHROME process. Cibachrome prints are fun to make. Cibachrome prints are also easy to make. If you remember, I said that even Osgood could make great prints with Cibachrome. That proves it's easy.

This week at the CKFN classes we will be showing a film on the Cibachrome process. If you're interested in the process try to get to this week's class. Also at this week's classes we will be taking up SLR photography and how to get the most from your reflex camera.

Once again we'd like to remind you that we are in the middle of AGFACHROME season. For the fall colors there is just nothing — no film made — that can hold a candle to AGFACHROME to capture the beautiful warm colors of autumn. If you've never used AGFACHROME for color slides you're in for a surprise. That's for 126 size as well as the 135, and I might add that you can get the AGFACOLOR for beautiful color prints for the pockets, that's 110 size; the regular Instamatic size, 126; as well as the 35 mm. If you haven't tried these great German films you should give them a try.

Involving car, tractor

Clarksville driver injured in mishap

A Monday afternoon tractor and car collision hospitalized a Clarksville man, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

John D. Jackson, 33, of Clarksville, was treated and released from Fayette County Memorial Hospital after his pickup truck traveling north on Ohio 41-N, collided with a tractor at 2:45 p.m. Monday.

The tractor, driven by William N. Kelley, 55, of Jeffersonville, reportedly pulled into the path of the car from a private driveway located south of the Madison and Fayette County line.

The pickup truck was severely damaged, and the tractor was moderately damaged. Kelley was charged with failure to yield to an oncoming vehicle.

Hope A. Hatmasher, 23, of 432 Highland Ave., told sheriff's deputies that while her car was parked on the Possum Hollow Lounge parking lot, CCC Highway-W, sometime Friday, it was struck and moderately damaged by a hitskip vehicle.

Officers check vandalism case

A reported vandalism incident which caused an estimated $175 in damage to two vehicles was investigated Monday by Washington C.H. police officers.

Two dump trucks belonging to the W.K.W. Construction Co., 225 S. Main St., were reportedly damaged by vandals who broke various windows and mirrors on the vehicles, sometime between Friday and Monday morning.

The trucks had been parked at the Emerald Glen Construction project site in the Storybrook Addition.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that a white concrete elephant valued at $50 belonging to Edna M. Lux, 59, of 9041 U.S. 22-E, was removed from her front yard sometime Saturday or Sunday.

Overheated dryer fire extinguished

Washington C.H. firemen spent over an hour at a local grain elevator Monday as they successfully extinguished a fire in an overheated grain dryer.

Summoned at 1:57 p.m. Monday to the Fayette Landmark grain elevator at 302 S. Fayette St., firemen extinguished a dryer which had overheated. Damage was estimated at $100.

Firemen were also present at the Cor-Tec, Inc. plant, 2351 Kenskill Ave., to check an electrical short in the building that had taken place around 4 p.m. Monday. There was no fire and no report of damage.

Prayer breakfast draws 86 persons

Eighty-six persons attended the teen prayer breakfast Tuesday morning at the South Side Church of Christ.

"Four Young People God Needs" was the topic the Rev. Charles Richmond chose for the meditation period. Jowanda Vernon, a sophomore at Miami Trace High School, and Melanie McArthur, a sophomore at Washington Senior High School, led the singing accompanied by Marilyn Creamer, a senior at Miami Trace High School. Kelly Steele, a senior at Washington Senior High School, delivered the prayer for the food.

John Fields, a senior at Washington Senior High School, spoke on peace. He said "we could have that perfect peace if we would put our complete trust in God." Jon Creamer, a teacher at Washington Senior High School, offered the closing prayer.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be Tuesday, October 12 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades nine through twelve, are invited.

Francois A. Michaux, French botanist writing of his travels in 1802, reported sycamore trees along the Ohio River 44 and 47 feet in circumference, and poplars, or tulip trees, 15 to 18 feet in diameter. Wild cherries of four to five feet were not uncommon. —AP
